Waynes Waxing

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Actor John Wayne became a grandfather for the 10th time Tuesday when a daughter-in-law gave birth to her fourth daughter, Gretchen, wed to the actor's son, Michael, is the mother of Josephine Michele.

EDMONTON (CP)—Some Western grain farmers face disaster unless a quick change in weather allows harvesting of a record crop.

Statements of alarm came out of Alberta Tuesday as cold, wet weather with some snow settled over the province and edged into Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Temperatures in the 40s generally were 20 degrees below normal.

Harvesting has not been general since rainy weather settled over the Prairies Aug. 22.

R. E. English, statistician of the Alberta department of agriculture, said:

Gas Barge Elusive

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—The stubborn Mississippi River refused Tuesday to divulge the whereabouts of a missing chlorine barge despite an all-out search by the military.

At the same time, the flooding caused in hurricane-battered New Orleans.

The death toll from Hurricane Betsy climbed to 66 with addition of two victims in New Orleans. The city counted 41 known dead; 10 other hurricane deaths were reported elsewhere in Louisiana; Florida reported seven fatalities, Arkansas four and Mississippi one.

30 MISSING

In addition to the dead, Orleans Parish coroner Dr. Nicholas Chetta said between 50 and 60 names of missing persons have been registered at his office.

Army and navy divers plunged again into the Mississippi River around Baton Rouge, groping through the silt-laden water for a heavy steel barge carrying 600 tons of lethal chlorine gas in four huge tanks.

Marcoux To Run Alone

QUEBEC (CP)—Dr. Guy Marcoux, Social Credit member for Quebec Montmorency in the last Parliament, will run as an independent in the Nov. 8 federal election.

Dr. Marcoux said Tuesday he decided to be independent because he does not wish to be tied to any party or to any campaign fund in the election.

He had announced last week he would not be seeking re-election as a Social Credit candidate.

SECOND INDEPENDENT

Another of the five Social Credit members in Quebec, Marcel Lessard (Lac St. Jean), also announced plans to run as an independent.

Mr. Lessard said none of the present parties has principles in line with his own.

Maurice Cole (Chicoutimi), who has said he too will choose a banner other than Social Credit this time, said Tuesday he has not yet decided what his new affiliation will be. It would be either independent or Liberal.

Russia Nearer Agreement On Nuclear Ban

GENEVA (Reuters)—United States disarmament negotiator William C. Foster said Tuesday Russia seems ready to accept most of the language of a U.S. draft treaty to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons.

Despite objections that the draft would allow West Germany access to nuclear weapons, it appears Moscow could accept most of the draft on the obligations of nuclear and non-nuclear states, Foster said.

This, he said, means "we have come a long way" toward concluding an agreement.

NEXT YEAR

He told the 17-country disarmament conference it should be possible to proceed with the draft as a basis for negotiations when the conference resumes—probably next year—after adjourning Thursday.

The U.S. draft, worked out with the other three Western delegations to the conference, Canada, Britain and Italy, was presented here last month.

Foster denied Russian delegate Semyon Tsarapkin's arguments that the U.S. proposals for a NATO nuclear force would give non-nuclear countries access to nuclear weapons.

Justice Dies

B.C. Supreme Court Justice James Gordon Armstrong Hutcheson, 69, died in hospital at Cobham, Surrey, England, while on a family visit. Born in Denver, Colo., he was raised in Ontario and came to B.C. in 1913.

Diplomats Solve Culture Problem

LONDON (Reuters)—British diplomacy and decorum joined Tuesday to avert a bare-breasted dance by African maidens in the heart of London at noon Thursday.

The Sierra Leone dancers, here for the Commonwealth Arts Festival opening Thursday, had insisted on performing naked from the waist up in accord with their tribal traditions.

Fearing a near riot by lunchtime crowds, Britain's ministry of works demanded that the girls cover up. The manager of the 60-member troupe refused.

Tuesday's diplomatic settlement calls for the girls to perform traditional dances which do not require bare breasts. But they will be able to perform naked from the waist up on television and in festival theatre presentations.

Forces Sweep Jungles

SAIGON (Reuters)—Thousands of American and Australian troops swept into thick jungles north of Saigon early Tuesday on a massive search-and-destroy operation.

Paratroopers of the 173rd U.S. Airborne Brigade and infantrymen of the First Battalion of the Royal Australian Regiment were taking part in the sweep south of Ben Cat, some 20 miles north of the capital.

No contact with the guerrillas was reported.

SAIGON (AP)—Some 1,100 Vietnamese paratroopers dropped in a blinding tropical rainstorm on a Communist-occupied plain 30 miles north of Saigon.

Racial Policy Scored

OTTAWA (CP)—The 54th inter-parliamentary conference over-rode some Anglo-American doubts Tuesday and urged member countries to introduce sanctions against South Africa for its apartheid racial policies.

The meeting of some 600 world parliamentarians voted overwhelmingly in support of a resolution condemning the union government for policies constituting "a grave crime against humanity."

BIG MAJORITY

The balloting, with voting strengths allocated among the national groups according to legislative membership and population, was 565 to 10 with 99 abstentions.

Britain accounted for seven of the 10 negative votes, while the United States cast two of them, and West Germany one. South Africa itself is not a member of the Inter-Parliamentary Union.

SOVIET BLOC

Canada cast 10 of its 13 votes in support of the resolution with the remaining three abstaining.

All 22 Soviet ballots backed the resolution, as did other members of the Communist Bloc and virtually all delegates from developing nations in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Ceasefire?

Ground Battles Slacken

NEW DELHI (AP)—Pakistani warplanes struck close to Calcutta Tuesday and Indian bombers hit two Pakistani towns while the tempo of the ground war slackened. Some hope for a ceasefire arose as UN Secretary-General U Thant delayed his departure from New Delhi.

Indian Prime Minister Shastri told political leaders India would work for an "honorable and just" halt in the war, informed sources reported.

Pakistani bombers and Sabre jet fighters twice struck at the huge Indian air base at Bardhaman.

Germany Backs Sterling

Did France Stab U.K.?

LONDON (Reuters)—The state-controlled Bank of England, armed with new support from the central banks of 10 countries including Canada, threw its weight into the foreign exchange market Tuesday to offset a new threat to the stability of the pound sterling.

The move came after the government announced Britain had another big overseas trade deficit last month.

IN MINUTES

Within minutes, a European holder of sterling—some market dealers hinted it was France—offered to sell the currency below the market rate. The Bank of England was understood to have stepped in as a buyer and the price was quickly restored. West Germany also bought sterling.

It was to provide just such a shock absorber that the new international support for sterling announced last Friday was organized. The exact form of the foreign assistance has not been disclosed.

Bayonets At Back Says Wessin

MIAMI (UPI)—Ousted Dominican Gen. Elias Wessin, breaking a four-day silence, Tuesday night rejected the post of consul in Miami and released a blistering attack on the U.S.

In a letter to provisional president Hector Garcia Godoy, Wessin said he was "deported from my country with a bayonet at my back" by American forces.

"The American officials who ordered my expulsion in such a humiliating manner have given the coup d'etat the fight for democracy in the Americas."

Defence Men Decide

Integrated Forces' Color Is Dark Green

OTTAWA (UPI)—So you think you had trouble picking the color scheme for the living room?

Try doing it for 10,000 vehicles—ranging from tractors and cars to tanks and fire engines.

National defence headquarters had this problem as part of the integration of the three armed forces.

The basic colors had to be picked for the new force's integrated fleet of cars, trucks, tanks, fire engines, ambulances, airport vehicles and everything else on wheels within the services.

Like painting a living room, there was a problem of personal taste. Esthetically and strategically a color had to be picked that wasn't too ugly on the street or too bright on a battlefield.

There was also the ticklish issue of interservice rivalry. Defence department paint experts and military brass finally decided on one basic color and, like a housewife dabbing a wall for a trial, they painted one truck dark green.

They agreed it looked fine so the color was finalized. The order has gone out that all trucks and buses of the integrated force will gradually be painted dark green—instead of the present pale blue for the air force, brown for the army and dark blue for the navy.

But the experts didn't stop there. They decreed all automobiles in the service will be black. You will no longer be able to tell an admiral or a general by the color of his car.

Adding a brightening touch, they ordered all airport vehicles and engineering equipment, ranging from bulldozers and graders to dump trucks, will be yellow.

Ambulances will be white and, of course, fire reels will be red.

Combat vehicles, from ships to planes, will remain as they are now. Tanks or jeeps and other battle equipment will be painted according to the duty they are performing, from camouflage to United Nations colors.

Need for Restraint

THE ABILITY of the economy to maintain a period of expansion over the past five years has been possible only because it has not been accompanied by undue inflationary pressures.

Earlier post-war trade booms were of considerably shorter duration, largely because they were poorly controlled; costs and inventories rose at untenable speed with the market in many cases being unable to cope with new production.

The inevitable recession period followed, thus giving the 1950s a lack of balance that although not reaching boom-bust proportions was neither comfortable nor desirable.

The present period of expansion has up to this year performed very well. Restraints on rising prices, such as the late President Kennedy imposed upon the steel industry, were valuable adjuncts. Furthermore, production increases generally kept in line with rising labor costs.

As a result the period of expansion has stretched itself out for longer than most experts thought it would. Indeed in the U.S. the feeling now is that the upturn is likely to continue through 1966.

However, in Canada warnings from all levels have been forthcoming in recent months that some restraint is needed if the situation is not to become explosive.

At the Ottawa level a postponement of much non-essential public works construction has been effected for an interim period of six months to relieve congestion in the labor-short construction industry.

Premier Bennett has warned that in B.C. similar caution is required if the province's building, mining and forest capital expansion is not to get out of hand. The high level of tenders for new jobs has staggered even our ebullient premier.

Also to be noted is the message from J. V. Clyne, chairman of B.C.'s largest forest firm. Mr. Clyne points out that Canada can consume only a part of its production. It depends heavily on exports, and exports are only possible if prices are right.

The objective, says the MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River man, is that there should not be more than a 2 per cent annual increase in the cost of all goods and services. Last year the increase was 20 per cent higher than the permissible annual increase. This year it may be 30 per cent above the goal. We could be pricing ourselves out of the market.

The crying need for spending restraint applies to all. Nowhere more of course than at the federal government level where new social welfare plans being fanned by the election breezes have inflationary tendencies on a major scale.

Power Play

IT IS A PIECE of arrant sophistry when Liberal leaders claim that they have chosen to go to the people in November in the best interests of the nation.

The truth is they have decided on a general election because they see what they believe to be an opportunity to improve the Liberal Party's standing in the House of Commons. To hide such a political ambition under the "interests of the nation" nonsense is no more than humbug.

It is not even honest. Only by accident could the November election be in the national interest; and that would be due to a miscalculation of the Liberal leadership and the rejection by the electorate of its attitudes in general and its chicanery in particular.

Why all the fuss over a majority? The business of the country has never come to a standstill because a minority party was in office.

A majority is handy, of course, to railroad legislation through the Commons, but so far as Liberal ministers have disclosed no particularly contentious legislation is contemplated.

There is the medicare bill, true. But the only possible objection to it would be its cost. It is extremely unlikely that the House would have defeated the government on such an issue.

Is it possible that Mr. Pearson does have something less acceptable in mind for which he will require an over-all majority in the Commons? Is he preparing to make some sort of new concessions to Quebec at the expense of the rest of the country to perpetuate the Liberal hold upon that province, and to ensure him of at least another four years in office? Is he, perhaps, contemplating some sort of dangerous tampering with the Canadian constitution, a trend towards republicanism, perhaps, in his everlasting effort at appeasement in Quebec?

It is not beyond belief. One thing is certain: he will need to sweep the Quebec vote if he is to have anything better than another minority government.

Mr. Pearson is gambling—although the $13,500,000 needed for the election chips is taxpayers' money—and it will be interesting to discover what inducement he is offering to gain new support in La Belle Province.

Better Course

THERE MAY BE MERIT in the Esquimalt council suggestion that a subcommittee of the intermunicipal committee be appointed to study the alternative centennial stadium proposals of Saanich and Victoria and bring in recommendations. This would be a business-like course, better than arguing and picking holes in the rival plans at long range and according to no schedule.

As matters stand, it seems Victoria will try to convince Saanich that its project is superior, and vice-versa, a process which offers very little hope of a quick decision. A subcommittee sitting down to weigh the comparative advantages and disadvantages of the city proposal to build a stadium at Topaz Park with the aid of funds from the Thomas McPherson estate, and the Saanich plan to construct a stadium on a larger site in the Burnside-Tillicum area without this extra financial help, should not have much difficulty in arriving at a prompt and convincing conclusion.

But if this more direct line of action is to be adopted, the subcommittee ought to be appointed not at the next regular meeting of the intermunicipal group, but as soon as possible.

The mayor made reference two weeks ago to the Topaz sports complex being of "instant" nature, meaning that the stadium could be ready for centennial events next year. But this can hardly be the case if much more time is lost before the actual jobs of detailed planning and then construction are taken in hand.

City Policy in Question

ACCORDING to the morning paper Mr. C. Etchells, fired superintendent of the detention home, will receive some severance pay "in lieu of notice."

My family and I were out of town at the time Mr. Etchells was told to go. Is this the manner in which the city usually discharges its hirelings?

Mr. Etchells and wife were given hours to vacate their premises. Would any city landlord be allowed to order tenants about in that manner? The Etchellses were not, I presume, either paid by the day or warned that they were living in their home on a day to day basis.

When Mr. Etchells fell out of line with others on a committee reviewing and planning work with juvenile delinquents — by speaking out to the newspapers — my husband telephoned him to, shall we say, tease him.

At that time Mr. Etchells was worried about his job at the home. It seemed unbelievable to us that a man who takes such a personal interest in a number one problem in our society, delinquent children, could be ousted on such a seemingly childish basis.

We were inclined to believe he was worrying without cause. But persons who know this man do not think of him as a worrier, but rather as one who knows right, desires right, and is willing to put a heavy foot forward for right.

Was that foot just a little too heavy for Victoria's city fathers? And for the city manager?

One, Mr. Jack Kennedy, was not fired when the "Bay of Pigs" fiasco took place. How come Mr. Etchells for a happening about which he knew nothing?

Tourists Coming!

A weed on the Parliament Buildings lawn?

Get it out—Fetch a rake—a hoe—a stick—but QUICK . . . The tourists are coming . . . They'll think they are slumming by Jove!

How beastly a weed on the velvet! the hellvill! A blemish on the greensward in front of Queen Victoria! What will the camera legions think?

When they come for their pictures? They expect a weed or two while snapping flora in the jungle.

But HERE! By gad it's bad! A horticultural bungle.

What's this! . . . a drop of water fell from one of the hanging baskets? Great heaven! . . . fetch the man or boy whose municipal task it's to watch and see that all is well.

Ere he turns off the gaskets. . . A whiff of horse from the tally-ho? Oh NO! Oh surely NO.

We can't imagine what it might be. The animals stand quite close to the sea you know! But if you insist, we'll have them desist — and remove them from the shaft! — But there'll be a draft, and the tally-ho won't go, you know!

TOURIST-WATCHER.

Lover of Life

I am a teen-ager who does not want to die. I'm sure there are many others like me. This does not sound so unusual, but it will probably soon be a futile wish. The world is erupting in violence. All the little "international disputes" are becoming tragedies. The riot in Selma, Alabama, perhaps well-founded, is causing a civil war all over again. A mistake in Viet Nam is burning the fuse to destruction almost too rapidly to be stopped. Little Cuba is sending out terrorists to cause uprisings in South America. A language difference is becoming much more than a barrier between French-Canadians and English-Canadians. There has been moral disintegration in high places in Britain. Red China is brooding over South-eastern Asia like a thunderbolt which covers the sky from horizon to horizon. There has been war in a tiny island in the Mediterranean. Revolts tearing Africa apart are now so common as to not even merit attention.

What has happened to our world? Busy little scientists play with rockets and the moon. The significance of these flights? Yes, we all understand! But how much longer till the Button is pushed? What good will rockets do to a desolated planet? Minor strikes are all multiplying in size. Perhaps the fishing boundary argument will become serious. Japan, China, Russia, South America, Canada, the U.S.A., Britain, Cyprus, Africa—what is going to end all this? International diplomacy? Hardly. The United Nations? As soon as you disagree, rebel. Fear of the bomb and its effect on all sides? Maybe. But why not just stop. Have a permanent cease-fire. If enough people will set up a cry against this hovering destruction in ALL countries, if ALL people refused to destroy their fellow men, at least death would stand a chance of coming naturally. You say, Fine! How do we begin accomplishing this? First, we might bestir ourselves off our posterior so we will have some posterity. Let all of us begin a hue and cry for peace? What right have a few adults that they take a chance on destroying millions of children? Freedom or death? Leave us that choice. We don't understand yet! Give us a chance to, don't kill us first. Can you prosecute any one man for intent to murder so we will have some posterity? Perhaps. But what can you do when it's accidental? When it's on the right side against Communism? Terrorism? Segregation? Segregation? Arr these wars right? Should we support them? What else can we do, though? You say, "Must we let them overrun us?" Surely among all the billions of people in this world, one person has a solution. With scientists and writers and philosophers, one person must KNOW. Can we find him? Can't we stop this urge to kill? Let's DO something. Let's fight with our minds instead of our lives. What right have we to sacrifice those of others for A CAUSE—whatever it may be? None at all. We cannot take lives if we cannot give them back, and once we're dead, there's nothing we can do about it. Please don't publish my name, as this letter is a plea from many of us teen-agers. We suggest you take a trip down to the nearest record shop and buy a copy of The Eve of Destruction by Barry McGuire.

SOMEONE WHO WANTS TO LIVE.

Protest Cry

I am deeply wounded! Just when many of us are yearning to appreciate the visual effects created by the new shorter skirts we have one of your correspondents who would discount them.

To discover that legs, or, that is to say, the lower limbs extend (even as they do with the male of the species) above the knee-cap has been one of the few pleasures of this perilous time. Without them we would not have a leg to stand on.

Although we must suffer those who would ban racy novels and "skin magazines," we aficionados of the female form take up arms (upper limbs) in defence of the right to enjoy nature's bounty.

In short, sir, we are revolting. Perhaps I should have said, "We, sir, are revolting in shorts."

Peking Still Cool

President de Gaulle Flirting with China

By ALAN de LYBROT from Paris

PRESIDENT Charles de Gaulle is once again trying to twiddle the elusive Red Chinese dragon.

Since he established diplomatic relations with Peking a year and a half ago, President de Gaulle has been frustrated by the fact that he has gained little diplomatic advantage from his controversial move.

The embassies exchanged between Paris and Peking have remained politely silent. There have been minor commercial and cultural exchanges and students have moved from one capital to the other but there have been no signs that Peking was attaching more importance to the French recognition than to regard it as its due.

De Gaulle now has tried again to get his Red Chinese gambit out of its rut by sending to Peking his most prized and brilliant associate, the cultural minister, M. Andre Malraux.

The move was calculated to attract considerable attention since the author of "Man's Fate" is one of the most mercurial figures of the French world of politics, arts and letters.

M. Malraux left for the Far East on what was described as a "private trip." Yet, he carried in his briefcase a letter from M. de Gaulle allowing him to discuss in his name and the name of France "the great problems which interest France and China and therefore the future of the world."

Armed with this accreditation, a rare show of confidence on M. de Gaulle's part, M. Malraux spent long hours with Communist Party boss Mao Tse-tung, Vice-Chairman Liu Shao-chi, Foreign Minister Chen Yi and Premier Chou En-lai.

Never before had a Western leader spent so much time with the Red Chinese upper crust.

The Malraux trip short-circuited all normal diplomatic channels and there is every indication that the French foreign ministry and the French embassy in Peking do not, to this day, have a clue of what transpired between M. Malraux and his Red Chinese interlocutors.

When he returned to France, M. Malraux put on one of his typical sibylline acts. Apparently, the French cabinet was treated to a "report" which turned out to be an opaque discourse about the Red Chinese giant which gave no clues of the trip's concrete significance.

M. Malraux, a handsome, distinguished man in his early 60s who looks less than 50, is probably one of the most eloquent but least understandable men in France.

Words and ideas flow from him in harmonious gushes that leave the listener spellbound—and utterly confused. This apparently was the case with the French cabinet and the French public in connection with his Chinese trip.

A common reaction in French political circles is to say that M. Malraux and China's Mao simply indulged in high-flown political philosophy and that the trip was more sophistry than hard-headed diplomatic business. Some said that the "mountain had given birth to a mouse."

All that was really known to have been tentatively agreed upon is that the greatest exhibit of Chinese art ever seen would be held in Paris at some time in the future.

But the French government did not treat the matter that way.

Information Minister Alain Peyrefitte, the only man to have discussed the subject officially, described the trip as having been of "utmost importance." He added that it would allow M. de Gaulle and the French government "to have a clearer idea of the realities and the intentions of China in the present and the future."

This, he added significantly, was important in view of "the very considerable importance that France attaches to the role of China in the world."

M. Peyrefitte, however, went on to say that the trip was not connected with the war in Viet Nam. But he did not deny that the subject was discussed.

Behind the fog and haze provoked by M. Malraux' verbal effusions, there is the growing conviction in informed circles here that M. de Gaulle, after all, may have latched on to something and that this "something" will be revealed with "ecstasy" in due course.

It appears that Red China, despite the abuse and disdain it has heaped on the United Nations in recent months, is once again anxious to become a full-fledged member of that organization with a seat in the Security Council as one of the Big Five.

Gaullist logic makes it likely that M. de Gaulle, after having recognized Red China, would support its membership in the United Nations. This, in his view, would only be the rational conclusion of diplomatic recognition.

There is no question but that M. de Gaulle is anxious to have his Red Chinese gambit bear fruit somehow or other, particularly in his everlasting ambition to play an important world role. But Peking, apparently, would not be satisfied with a simple French vote. It wants more of the general. It wants him to use his prestige, influence and eloquence to back up its UN ambitions.

Specifically, it would want M. de Gaulle to talk the independent republics of France's former empire in Africa into casting their votes in favor of that membership.

Underlying this may be the whole point of the current manoeuvre: once seated in the UN Security Council, Red China might be willing to talk about peace in Southeast Asia.

So far, neither M. Malraux nor M. de Gaulle, the only men to really know what happened, if anything, in Peking, have kept their lips sealed and there is, therefore, no official confirmation that such gambits are really the case.

If they were, M. de Gaulle would finally hold in his hand a tricky new weapon to assert his influence and prestige. There is little doubt that the purpose of his flirt with Peking is aimed at this.

But the Red Chinese dragon makes little effort to conceal that despite its recognition of Peking, France is just another capitalist nation and not a very powerful one at that.

One of the heaviest days of air fighting, later known as "Battle of Britain Day," took place 25 years ago today—in 1940—as unprecedented masses of German aircraft attacked London.

The invasion alert was given and rumors filled the air, that landings had been made or repelled, and that Goering was at the controls of a bomber over London.

The RAF claimed 185 German aircraft shot down that day, whereas the true figure was 60, making the victory in fact less than that of Aug. 15, when 15 Luftwaffe machines were felled. But the day was critical. Two days later, Hitler secretly cancelled plans to invade England before the winter.

1784—Vincenzo Lunardi made the first flight in Britain, by balloon from London to Stanlon, Herts.

1830—The world's first passenger railway, from Liverpool to Manchester, England, was opened.

First World War: Fifty years ago today—in 1915—Lord Kitchener announced that 11 newly-recruited army divisions would be sent to France at once.

Second World War: Twenty-five years ago today—in 1940—in an unexploded 1,000-pound bomb in St. Paul's Cathedral churchyard was defused. Single and widowed Canadian men aged 21 to 24 were called up for military training.

Gusts Up to 50

Tuesday Breeze Apple-Knocker

Those who took an afternoon stroll Tuesday might have noticed it was a little breezy. Although it freshened the faces of some Victorians, to others it was a pain.

TREE DOWN

On Dupplin Road, an apple tree blew over during the gusts and damaged the telephone line leading to one home.

A spokesman for the weather office said the wind started at about 11 a.m. and reached its peak gusts of 50 miles an hour at 3:15 p.m. At the time of highest velocity, the direction was west-southwest.

DOWN STRAIT

"A low pressure area went by Victoria at 3 p.m.," he said. "It happens quite often this time of the year when we get west or southwest winds. The air flows through Juan de Fuca Strait, and this is when the winds reach Victoria."

Voice of Canada League

English Only But Not Anti-French

OTTAWA (CP)—An organization advocating a one-language Canada — English only—held its first general meeting here Tuesday night. Twenty-nine persons contributed their views.

The Voice of Canada League, founded by Deane Russell, a one-time member of Prime Minister Mackenzie King's staff and now an Ottawa business man, was originally known as the Canadian Confederation Movement when founded July 1. It was later called the Canadian Constitution Council before the present name was adopted.

To suggestions that the group is anti-French, Mr. Russell told his audience that "nothing could be further from the truth."

But he said "there comes a time in the thinking of English-speaking Canadians when they should think of drawing a very firm, very decisive line." A pamphlet issued by the organization asks members to "speak out now—take a clear, firm and decisive stand against 'bilingualism' for the conduct of Canadian affairs."

English-speaking Canadians, says the publication, are being accused of being complacent and inarticulate. "Others are using this curious facet of our Canadian character to assume authority and power to design our national future for their minority aspirations, but without reference to the feelings and wishes of the great majority of our total population."

Welsh Choir Tickets Low

Fired by a sense of history and leek soup, producer Kenneth Gravenor reported Tuesday night that tickets to the Pendryus Male Choir concert tonight were all but sold out.

Meanwhile, despite a controversy over who discovered America — Left Ericson, Christopher Columbus or Prince Madoc of Wales, last-minute preparations for the choir's visit go on.

The 80-voice choir sings at 8 p.m. today in Central Junior High School, and will be guests of Woodward's at Mayfair at 3 p.m.

Death Claims Defendant Before Case Launched

Robert Roy Humphreys, 27, is being sued in Supreme Court at Victoria as the result of an accident on the Island Highway three miles north of Nanaimo on July 20, 1963.

But when the case began Tuesday, the court learned the Nanaimo resident is dead.

He died on the recent Labor Day weekend—in an accident on the Island Highway three miles north of Nanaimo.

The suit against Mr. Humphreys was changed to a suit against his estate.

The suit for damages is being brought by Oliver Patrick Lafonde, Nanaimo, as a result of injuries suffered in the accident of 1963.

Mr. Lafonde, 23, was a passenger in a car which was in collision with Humphreys' car, and Mr. Lafonde was injured.

He blames the crash for eye and other injuries.

Humphreys had been traveling from Port Alberni on the way to attend a dance at Nanaimo when he braked and skidded in the face of oncoming traffic.

The driver of the other car, Ronald Philip Hooper, also sued as a result of the crash

OJIBWAY, Ont. (CP) — Anonymous telephone threats that harm would come to their children marked a fearful day for John Reid and his wife, Elizabeth, here Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Reid, the only voters in this 2,200-acre township adjacent to Windsor, will be voting today on whether the township will go "wet" and allow the Windsor Raceway, located in the township, to seek a liquor licence in time for its Oct. 14 opening.

Mrs. Reid said all the calls were from men who said her children might "come to harm" if they didn't vote for the sale of liquor.

"We realized we were the only two voters months ago, but it seems that the public in this area has just discovered it," Mr. Reid said Tuesday night. "We have had dozens of calls throughout the day and will probably have them through the night."

He said he couldn't take his phone off the hook because of his job. "I am on call 24 hours a day," he said.

He is a maintenance supervisor for the Canadian Rock Salt Co., the township's sole owner, and from whom he rents his home. The race-track, which has a 57-day season, bought its property from the company.

Believed unique in Canada, the township has a population of six—Mr. and Mrs. Reid, both 39, and their four children, ranging in age from 4½ to 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Reid will go to a nearby polling booth, which will be open for only one hour, to cast their votes. "I'm not going to say which way we'll vote, but we are for progress and we like a drink," Mr. Reid said.

The plebiscite requires a two-third majority vote to become municipal law. Mrs. Reid said "you can bet your life this won't be a tie vote. We've stuck together 20 years—we're not going to separate now."

Stall Sidewalk, Petition Urges

A petition asking that sidewalks not be built on the south side of Ellery Street at the present time has been signed by 90 per cent of the street's 25 residents.

Residents object to having sidewalks built on the south side until present improvements of curbs and gutters on the street are further advanced in payment.

BEFORE COUNCIL

The petition is due to be placed before Esquimalt council at its next meeting, said Mrs. G. F. Dunlop, 877 Ellery, who circulated it.

Mrs. Dunlop stressed Tuesday night that south side residents were not against having sidewalks built, but would rather wait until payments on present improvements are nearer completion.

Crash Hurts Victoria Man

SHAWNIGAN LAKE—A Victoria man is in King's Daughters' Hospital with minor injuries following a one-car accident on the Trans-Canada Highway at Cobble Hill, Monday.

Paul Van Der Basch, 513 Warren Avenue, was a passenger in the car. He is reported in satisfactory condition.

Driver of the car, Alan D. Reimer, 1137 Lyall Street, Victoria, escaped injury when his car went out of control on the rain-slick pavement and down an embankment.

The car was completely demolished.

Long Shadow Now Long Gone

ROME (UPI)—United Artists reported that 400 feet of the film Cast a Long Shadow is missing and may have been stolen for ransom.

The film was of an action sequence by actors John Wayne and Kirk Douglas shot in a village near Rome. A spokesman said the company is turning the matter over to its insurance company.

Former Member Raps Student Vote Loss

George Chatterton, Progressive Conservative member of the last Parliament for Esquimalt-Saanich, last night rapped Prime Minister Pearson for calling the election too early to allow away-from-home students to vote.

Gross

Charging Prime Minister Pearson with "rather callous disregard for the voting rights of students," Mr. Chatterton promised that the Progressive Conservative Association would provide transportation to the polls for students living in adjoining ridings.

MUST HAVE KNOWN

"The prime minister must have known he would disfranchise many students by calling the election when he did. I can't conceive of him not knowing," said Mr. Chatterton.

"I'm sure a student doesn't mind where," said Mr. Chatterton. "He just wants to cast his vote."

David Gross, Liberal member of the last Commons for Victoria, said Tuesday that the decision about whether or not students can get on the voters' list is "outside my compass."

LEGAL VIEW

"The prime minister has submitted the question to the justice department to see if any way around it can be found. I think we'll just have to wait and see what will happen."

"The opposition may try to make an issue of it, but that's the function of opposition," he said.

Bulldog Kills Two-Year-Old

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Police said a bulldog chained in a neighbor's fenced yard apparently killed two-year-old Mark Paul Dale. Officers found the mangled body Monday near the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Paul Dale.

The section of the act in question says that students voting away from home must be duly registered and in attendance at their universities when the election writs are issued.

Th writs for the coming federal election came down Wednesday. Registration at the University of Victoria started Tuesday.

WAIT AND SEE

Paul Williamson, University of Victoria student council president, commented that if students were challenged, he would ask Mr. Chatterton and David Gross, Liberal member of the last Commons for Victoria, both for their help, but until then he would prefer just to wait and see.

NORMAL RESIDENCE

"I still feel that most students will be able to get on the list," he said.

Students attending university from out of town may be able to claim Victoria as their normal place of residence. The decision is up to the enumerators, according to an earlier statement by Ray Bryant, returning officer for Victoria.

Soldier's Mother To Visit Grave

A Victoria woman will make a pilgrimage to the grave of her son in Reichswald, Holland, by the Royal Canadian Legion and the Netherlands War Graves Committee.

Mrs. Dorothy Robson, 1015 Moss, will join 140 relatives of Canadian war dead who will spend 10 days in Holland visiting food provided by Dutch families.

The trip is organized annually by the Royal Canadian Legion and the Netherlands War Graves Committee.

While in Holland, the pilgrims will have accommodations and food provided by Dutch families.

Fire Stricken Ship Wallows at Montreal dockside

Five Dead After Ship's Mystery Blast

MONTREAL (CP) — National Harbors Board police said Tuesday night five men missing in the hot hull of the explosion-battered freighter Fort William now are presumed dead.

The explosion in Montreal harbor early Tuesday left the 7,900-ton ship sprawled on her side in 30 feet of water.

TRAPPED BELOW

The men were believed trapped in the crew's quarters on the vessel's starboard side—the side that was on the harbor bottom.

The Fort William, which went into service last May, was still steaming from the fires that continued to burn in her hold. Police said danger of further explosions remains.

CARBIDE CARGO

The vessel was known to be carrying a quantity of calcium carbide as well as rubber, steel and steel plate in her general cargo.

A transport department official in Ottawa said carbide in itself isn't explosive but it generates a highly-explosive gas if water is added. Oil also was said to be included in the cargo.

RUBBER FIRE

The rubber, once on fire, can burn or smoulder for some time, said an official of the ship's owner, Canada Steamship Lines.

The freighter arrived from Port Credit, Ont., via the St. Lawrence Seaway and the crew had gone to bed after docking.

SETTLED FAST

Then the blast, heard for two miles around, crashed through its hold and sent flames hurtling into the pre-dawn sky.

Fifteen of the crew scrambled to safety from their below-deck quarters, some leaping into the swift current of the harbor as the vessel keeled over. She had settled to the bottom within minutes.

TOO LATE

The men rescued Captain Samuel Wilkinson who was trapped in his cabin.

But the five crew-members not immediately found were thought to have made their dash for safety too late to escape a possible cascade of flying furniture or other debris shot through the ship by the blast.

Firemen poured water from a wharf and from tugs into the exposed port side of the hull but were ordered away as the threat of a new blast apparently increased. Then a muffled roar from inside the hull set the metal sides buckling out.

Missing were George Barber, steward; Denis Beaudoin, 33, a seaman of Cap de la Madeleine, Que.; and Jean-Charles of Quebec City; Arnold Urmenadt, 43, of Desboro, Ont., a man.

More Oil Strikes

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

British-American Oil company was hit by more strikes Tuesday amid indications it is willing to bargain independently of Canada's other major oil companies.

About 100 drivers and warehouse workers set up picket lines in Vancouver, Victoria, and Nanaimo. The refinery at Kamloops in the British Columbia interior began a shut-down in preparation for a strike due to start at 8 a.m. today. Ahead lie strike deadlines at Moose Jaw and Clarkson, Ont., refineries.

JOB SECURITY

Officials of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union (OCA) said job-security provisions are the major concern.

A company offer that would have meant a $50-a-month wage increase was spurned by the West Coast workers in a vote Monday night.

It promised 35 cents an hour after the base rate of $2.75 in a 30-month contract. The union wants 55 cents over two years. On the picket lines since Monday have been 105 employees of the BA-owned Royalite Oil Co. refinery in Saskatoon.

The first move came last Friday when six employees of Empire Oil Co. in Saskatoon, also BA-owned, walked out. Neil Reimer of Edmonton, international representative for the union, said about 1,000 workers would be striking, including those at BA's Brandon refinery.

Strikers Stall School Walkoff

VERNON (CP) — Striking tradesmen and maintenance employees in school district 22 have declared a moratorium on their walkout.

A union spokesman said Tuesday the truce was called to attempt to resolve differences that could halt the education of 5,000 students in the Vernon area.

Riding Change Opposed By All Area Delegates

The municipalities and local business took a united stand Tuesday at a one-hour meeting with the Electoral Boundaries Commission where they opposed the proposed new electoral district.

In the proposed reshuffle of federal ridings, Esquimalt municipality was taken out of the Victoria riding and placed in the Esquimalt-Saanich electoral district.

Some 8,000 Saanich residents in the area east of Maplewood and south of Cedar Hill Cross Road would be added to Victoria constituency.

Metchoin, Sooke, Port Renfrew, Cobble Hill and Shawnigan Lake would no longer be in the Esquimalt-Saanich district, but would be added to Nanaimo-Cowichan-the-Islands.

George Chatterton, Esquimalt-Saanich member of last Parliament, told the commission a whole municipality should be within one electoral district wherever it was possible.

He also objected strongly to the Maplewood-Cedar Hill Cross Road area being added to the Victoria riding.

Douglas Patterson, appearing for Saanich council, agreed with Mr. Chatterton that a municipality should be in one riding, and pointed out the Saanich handle is always a point of confusion.

Victoria, Esquimalt municipality, Yarrow's shipyard and the Victoria Chamber of Commerce all opposed the suggested moving of Esquimalt municipality into Esquimalt-Saanich electoral district.

T. P. O'Grady, appearing for the city, told the commission that Esquimalt and Victoria interests are interwoven, and strongly objected to the municipality being removed from Victoria riding.

David Groos, Victoria member in the last House of Commons was not at the last meeting, held by the three-man commission under Mr. Justice Harold W. McInnes in the Victoria law courts building.

'Words Put In Mouth'

Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt protested Tuesday night that words were put in his mouth in a report of his municipality's council meeting Monday. In fact, he said, he wasn't even there.

The council was discussing at length the Victoria and Saanich proposals for a centennial stadium.

Reeve Wurtele was quoted as saying, "I think it's ridiculous for us to be entering into it at this time." The remark actually came from Coun. Gerald Horne.

Reeve Wurtele Tuesday night reiterated his view that Esquimalt should have accurate figures and detailed plans of operation, before making a decision on supporting any project. He has asked for a brief on the subject.

Courtroom Parade

HBC 'Favor' Denied

One of Victoria's largest department stores thought it was doing a favor, but the magistrate said "No."

Hudson's Bay Company asked in city magistrate's court Tuesday to withdraw three charges of false pretences laid against a man in connection with worthless cheques passed on different occasions in August.

RECEIVED

A representative of the company said it wanted to drop charges because full restitution had been made.

"Do your employers really believe this is the way to collect money owing to the Hudson's Bay Company?" asked Magistrate William Ostler.

"The application is refused."

Accused was granted a week's remand to enable his lawyer to appear.

WALLACE PRIOR said he has quit taxi driving.

Magistrate told him it was the only solution open to him.

Prior, 27 Simcoe, said if he never exceeded the 30-mile-an-hour limit, he would not get his work done.

QUIT TAXIS

"I really think you should quit if this is your opinion. . . . No occupation is justification to break the law," said the magistrate.

Prior was fined $20 for speeding.

And announced he was taking up truck driving.

A Victoria mother of three was jailed for 14 days for being found driving while suspended for the second time this year.

Magistrate told Verna Campbell, 216 Memorial Crescent, there was no other way she could be dealt with for such defiance of the law.

ILLEGAL TURN

She was stopped early July 3 for making an illegal left turn from Douglas onto Yates and her suspension came to light later.

Banns Uncalled

So No Wedding

EASTBOURNE, England (UPI) — Shirley West and Douglas Lee were married — two days after their wedding reception.

The bride party had gathered at St. John's Church for the ceremony when the Rev. Robert Hooper discovered he had not received papers certifying that the banns had been called.

He was unable to marry the couple then. But the guests were not disappointed; a reception was held. Another reception was held at the bride's home after the wedding.

Show-Off Failure

Chaos in Reading

READING, England (CP)—Lord Thomson launched his $3,000,000 electronic news paper Tuesday — "the most modern and efficient newspaper in the world"—but a faulty electrical motor forced a hasty shutdown before the complete first edition rolled off the glimmering presses.

His Evening Post staff, which had struggled for months to make sure of a perfect launch, stood aghast as the whirling presses suddenly stopped while the Canadian-born publisher showed a group of selected guests through the plant.

FRANTIC SEARCH

For a moment there was chaos as technicians frantically searched for the source of the trouble. When it finally was located in one of the four electrical motors driving the presses, it was too late to complete the first edition.

Instead of the 40,000 copies required, Reading's new evening newspaper produced only about 12,000 — not enough to meet all the sales' commitments. A newspaper official said all the advertisements would be repeated in Wednesday's edition without charge.

EXPECTED

Rex Gerrie, managing director, had anticipated that because of the innovations in the new enterprise there would be technical problems. Earlier in the day, technicians were troubled by acid on one of the press rollers and by newspaper jamming on another part of the equipment.

But he and other staff members emphasized there was nothing wrong with the most revolutionary part of the operation — the complex computer which digests the typed news stories, sets them up in column size and turns them into a punched tape which can be fed into a lightning-speed type setter known as a Photon.

Garden Notes

In Praise of Pansies

By M. V. CHESNUT

The lazy gardener, seeking lots of color in his garden with the least possible expenditure of effort, is always on the hunt for plants which remain in bloom over a very long period of time. And quite often, in searching for such high-dividend-bearing plants among the glittering new hybrids, he overlooks some of the homely, old-fashioned subjects right under his nose, so to speak—like pansies, for instance.

Few of our garden subjects remain in bloom over a longer period of time than the humble Heart's Ease, so piquantly marked and so sweetly perfumed. And few are so appealing, especially when used as a dainty edging around a bed of taller flowers, or as a ground cover for bulbs or roses, or in planters and window boxes.

I imagine most home gardeners buy their pansy plants from the garden shops and stalls in the spring, but there is a lot to be said for raising your own from seed, from a fall sowing in a sheltered outdoor bed or in a coldframe. You can choose the superior varieties, strains and mixtures, or in special colors to suit your particular purpose, for unlike many plants grown from seed, pansies come reasonably true to type.

For the biggest flowers in widely mixed colors, buy Oregon Giants, Jumbo Mixture or Maple Leaf Hybrids, as these give tremendous blooms, some of them almost the size of a saucer. For special purity of coloring and form, with reasonably large blooms, my favorites are the Swiss Giants, particularly those bearing the name of Gustaf Roggli, Switzerland's most celebrated breeder of fine pansies.

While there is great fun in growing mixtures, and an exhilarating element of chance, wondering what special beauty will turn up from your mixed bag of seeds, it is often desirable to buy named varieties, in specific colors, to fit in with some planned color scheme in the garden. Some of the best, which can be counted on to come true to type and in color, are the following:

Ullswater is a dilly in clear, rich blue with blue-black blotches. Alpenglou produces a velvety-textured bloom in a glowing garnet shade set off by dark blotches. Coronation Gold is a particularly fine yellow, rich and clear and without blotches, especially good as a border edging, while Pay Dirt is another good yellow with bigger blooms than Coronation Gold but with dark rays which produce the characteristic pansy "faces" so beloved of children.

Raspberry Rose is a deep pink which always attracts attention because of the purity of its coloring, while Blumslap—Flower of the Alps—is a slightly lighter shade of pink.

King of the Blacks is an extraordinary flower, quite large, and looking as if the petals had been cut out of a piece of black velvet. It has a glowing yellow spot in the centre, and in my plants, a slight purplish tinge to the lower petal. If you like black flowers, I can recommend also the violas Black Imp and Little Black Devil. You may have to search around a bit for some of these varieties—it is unlikely that any one seedsmen will stock them all. A good source for hard-to-get kinds is Harrold's Pansy Farm, Grant's Pass, Oregon.

The garden books will often direct that pansies be grown in shade, but these recommendations are for other, hotter parts of the country. In our climate, I have had better results growing them in full sun, but with their beds liberally enriched with leafmould to retain summer moisture.

This year, pansies in my garden grown from a September sowing bloomed profusely from April 25 to July 7, and after being cut back and mulched, they came into bloom again with somewhat smaller flowers around the middle of August.

STAN DELAPLANE Kisses $10 Goodbye

Never Lend Women Money!

A great deal of money is handled by women. "I'm a little short of grocery money," she cried from the kitchen. "Could you lend me a little?"

This is a bright, brisk day. The sun shines in my generous heart. I will lend this chick a little money for groceries. But I do not expect to get it back. Life runs smoother that way.

Once I hoped to get back money I lent. I said: "When are you going to pay back the $10 you borrowed?"

She said: "What $10?" I said: "You know, the 10-spot you needed at the market because you left your purse home."

She said: "I NEVER borrowed $10 from you!" The next time she borrowed money, I took the little slip from the market.

I said: "When you pay me back, I'll give you the slip for your receipts."

She said: I ALWAYS pay my debts. A few days later I asked: "How about the money you owe me?"

She said: "What on earth are you talking about?"

I pulled out the slip. I said: "I gave you money when you needed it for THIS. Remember?"

She said: "I paid that money back to you the other day." I said: "The — I mean, you did not. Or you'd have the slip."

She said: "How about the $30 you owe me?" I cried: "What $30? Are you out of your small mind?"

She said: "When the new garbage cans were delivered, I paid for them. That's $14.95. Then I paid for the reweaving of that burn in the chair."

"That's household expense," I said. "You burned the chair," she said. "With a cigarette ash."

"You can't prove that," I said. "It could have been a guest. And garbage cans? That surely is household."

She said: "I returned that dress—the one you didn't like. If I'd kept it, it would have cost you $149.95—even on sale."

"I'd like to know WHY it would have cost me," I said. "That comes out of your clothes budget."

"It couldn't have," she said logically. "Because I didn't have $149.95."

I said: "What's this got to do with my $10?" She said: "What $10 are you talking about?"

"Look," I said, "you don't have to pay it back now if you don't want to. Just admit that you owe me. OK?"

"I don't admit anything," she said. "You keep changing the subject so fast, I can't keep my mind on what we're talking about."

I said: "What do you mean, I keep changing the subject."

YOU keep changing the subject. She said: "I'd rather give you the money than argue."

"Good," I said. "Hand it over."

She said: "Are you going to pay for the reweaving? All right. All right. I'll GIVE you the nasty $10—even if I don't owe it."

"Let's have it," I said. "Well," she said, "I don't have it now. My purse is in the other room. And I've GOT to put this roast on now or we'll never have dinner."

Every once in a while, I read about some woman who has hoisted her employer for a large sum.

"She was a quiet, respectable person," said the president of Corn Savings. "That this embezzlement has been going on for 25 years is a shock and surprise."

It shocks me, too. But it doesn't surprise me.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Stars Tug at Leash

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Richard Harris is making a "marvellous" lot of money from his current movie, Hawaii, and he has been most co-operative. But with the Melvyn story lasting almost as long as the long book took to write, Richard says he is losing money because he has had to turn down two pictures in England. He is also due in London to star on stage in Dylan. He believes he should be paid another $500,000 for the film which is not expected to be finished in Hawaii until the end of October or early in November. He is talking of a lawsuit. Hawaii was started in the late spring with a budget of $10,000,000. The total cost—if all goes well from now on—will be between $13,000,000 and $16,000,000. A few million or less makes no difference. If the completed result is good. The producers are satisfied it will be. But the top actors—Harris, and costars Max von Sydow and Julie Harris—would like to get on with their next assignments. Julie says she must report to Alfred Hitchcock the first of October for Torn Curtain, with Paul Newman.

British import Susanna Leigh received raves at the recent sneak preview, for her role in Boeing, Boeing, with Tony Curtis and Jerry Lewis. Susanna, rich, beautiful and talented, is currently on the receiving end of Elvis Presley's love-making in Hawaiian Paradise.

After High Citadel for the Mirisch Brothers in Hollywood, ace director J. Lee Thompson will be taking off somewhere on the ocean for The Golden Keel.

Kim Stanley is dying. So is Peggy Lee who is due at the Copacabana in New York, November 11. I don't care how much weight Kim gains or loses, just as long as she keeps acting as brilliantly as she did in Seance On A Wet Afternoon. Kim's exit from The Idol in London gave Jennifer Jones a chance to return to her acting career.

Burt Lancaster was the star the Beatles most wanted to meet during their recent stay in Los Angeles. They also wanted to meet members of the younger set. But, apart from a special visit to Elvis Presley, the only young star they saw was Hayley Mills. And Hayley is not what you might call sophisticated, although she will hate me for saying this.

Overheard in the lobby of the Hilton Castellana in Madrid—"Lee Marvin's price has gone up to $300,000 a picture." It took two movies—Ship of Fools and Cat Ballou.

ERMA BOMBECK Washes Dirty Linen in Public

Laundromat Has Seamy Side

Stella Chiorini is a laundromat attendant.

Eight hours a day she dispenses change, soap, bleach and instructions on how to insert a quarter into a small slot made for a quarter and labelled, "Please insert quarter."

Like bartenders, hairdressers, bus drivers and barbers, she hears more confessions in a day than a parish priest three days before Easter. She is bored with her job.

"So I said to him . . . next Wednesday, I'm coming down to the bowling alley and if your team isn't in the finals, buster, you've got problems. I mean, I like to think I'm a reasonable wife, but bowling until 1:30 a.m. three nights a week? I quit believing in fairy stories when I found out Peter Pan was Mary Martin with a wire up her back."

"Mother said the honey-moon wouldn't last. Chuck used to come to the laundromat with me . . . help me fold clothes and everything. Then tonight, out of a clear blue sky he says, 'You do the laundry. I'm going to stay home and watch TV.'"

"I guess pretty soon he won't even wait for me at the beauty shop while I have my hair done."

Five weeks of marriage and already he's bored with me.

"If it's going to make you emotional, dear, I won't even ask, but I've got a few errands and the old dragon who runs this place just dumps your clothes out on the floor if you aren't back when the red light goes off. If it'll upset you or anything, though, forget it."

I just thought you wouldn't mind doing me a favor. That's the trouble with the world today. Nobody wants to get involved. People getting murdered in the streets and drowning right before your eyes and people standing around watching like a floor show. You're sure you won't mind? Honey, you're a saint."

Well, I say when they made her hospitality chairman of the PTA it went to her head. The other day I called her and asked if she wanted to sub at bridge and you know what she said? I'm sorry, I'm busy. Doesn't that grab you?"

Doris asked her to a jewelry party and it was the same brush which off. I hear she even does her housework in nylon hose now. La de da . . . I'll bet her garbage doesn't smell any better than ours."

"I told my husband, this baby is going to be called caboose . . . that's train talk for end of the line. I feel like I'm living in a phone booth that's been duplicated. Honestly, kid, with all the children and all their toys, I take my life in my hands everytime I walk across the floor. I hope you're open late tonight. I have two more loads."

Stella Chiorini nods and listens. She hates working on the nights when her favorite show Peyton Place comes on television. The show intrigues her. It has real people with real problems. It sweeps her up in a kind of personal involvement with the frustrations of daily living. How she yearns to be in front of her TV set.

Meanwhile back at the laundromat—"Is this where you put the quarter, dearie? Say, did you hear about Ruby and her husband?"

Horticultural Society

Annual Fall Show

The 735 - member Victoria Horticultural Society will hold its annual fall show at the Victoria Curling Club Friday and Saturday.

Winners from the PNE, the Snohomish County dahlia show in Everett, Washa Saanichion and other area fairs will be on hand.

In the miscellaneous flower section alone there will be 33 classes, covering almost any flower grown indoors or out.

In addition there are classifications for specific flowers, fruit and vegetables. The display of vegetables which calls for nine different kinds is one of the most keenly-contested entries in the show. Winner of this particular classification is awarded the Landsberg trophy and becomes vegetable king of the year.

Always popular are the arrangement displays which this year continue the theme of international understanding, accenting the Orient.

Heavenly Answer

NORTHAMPTON, E. S. (UPI) — Advice on making wills is given to the parishioners of Christ Church here by the Rev. Arthur Higginson in a newsletter.

"A will," he wrote, "will save many an unholy row when you yourself are enjoying the glories of eternity."

Hunter Shot By Companion

PENTICTON (CP) — A 16-year-old deer hunter died in hospital Monday, the season's first B.C. hunting fatality.

Police identified the youth as Ben Laidman of Penticton. They said he was shot in the back with a .300-calibre rifle by a 16-year-old companion.

The companion called police, who took Laidman the 12 miles into Penticton, where he died in hospital about four hours after the shooting.

Police said an inquest has been ordered. They are withholding the name of Laidman's juvenile companion.

MAKE OWN MOVIES

The South African film board, modelled on Canada's National Film Board, now has the capacity for making about 60 ten minute films annually.

Monthly Pay Good Idea Says Businessman

VANCOUVER (CP)—A spokesman for big business believes a labor leader's proposal to place workers on weekly or monthly salaries has merit.

But he believes the step, designed to mitigate the effects of automation, would combine with a shorter work week to actually speed up the introduction of labor-saving machinery.

R. R. S. Wilson, chairman of the B.C. division of the Canadian Manufacturer Association, commented on the novel proposal Tuesday.

Jack Moore, regional president of the International Woodworkers of America, suggested Monday that the work week is sure to be cut and the union could avoid a drastic raise in hourly rates by changing now.

"I believe that placing hourly-paid workers on a weekly or monthly salary would result in better employee relations, increased efficiency, better production and lower administrative costs," Mr. Wilson said.

But reduction of the work week would mean more people for the same amount of work, and employers would be forced to reduce increased costs by use of more labor-saving devices.

"We will all have to accept the fact as time goes on fewer and fewer people will be required to put out a given amount of work," he said.

"Shorter hours, increased productivity and fewer workers in any industry is bound to come."

Mr. Wilson said labor, management and government should ensure that changes should come in a planned fashion and the resultant slack be taken up by increased production.

"It will also require a steady increase in the service industries, raising the education level and retaining and replacing workers whose jobs have become redundant," he said.

He disagreed with Mr. Moore's suggestion that men who work overtime be allowed to take double the time off instead of money.

"Overtime is only worked to overcome some emergent condition," Mr. Wilson said. "Once that has been taken care of the work level returns to normal."

$1,000,000 Novel May Be Lemon

LONDON (UPI)—Harold Robbins sold the film rights of his new novel, The Adventurers, for $1,000,000 before he set fingers to typewriter as this interview may be a bit of bad news for producer Joseph E. Levine, the tubby tycoon who put up the money.

From a penthouse suite overlooking his new Rolls-Royce the highest-priced writer of them all confessed that now the novel is finished he doesn't think it will make a movie at all.

"I didn't really agree to give Joe a movie," Robbins said. "I only agreed to give him a book. It's up to the people who do the movie to find a movie in it—if they can. Meanwhile, let's eat."

STARTS EATING

And he began to put away a hearty breakfast.

"Joe hasn't read one word of that," Robbins chuckled motioning towards the manuscript, nestling in a cardboard box on the coffee table. "And he won't fit into a picture."

Falcon Star Flat But Made a Million

VENICE, Calif. (AP)—Actor Tom Conway, once a suave portrait of "the Falcon" in films and "Inspector Mark Sabre" on television, is living in a $2-a-day hotel room in this beachfront haven.

Conway, brother of actor George Sanders, observed his 61st birthday Tuesday with little to celebrate. He said he's jobless and broke.

He told a reporter he earned nearly $1,000,000 in a 25-year acting career but has almost nothing to show for it.

AILMENTS

His situation came to light when the hotel manager telephoned the newspaper Evening Outlook in nearby Santa Monica to see whether he could be helped.

A reporter found Conway lying on a bed under a naked light bulb, clad in a flannel shirt and denim trousers. He said he is recovering from an eye ailment and also has an affliction that causes his left ankle to be badly swollen.

"FALLING OUT"

Conway said Sanders and other members of his family are in England or Switzerland but haven't been in touch with him "since we don't particularly talk." He and Sanders "had a little falling out some years back," he said.

His last job was two years ago in a Perry Mason television show, Conway said. Before that he appeared in some 280 films, in the radio serial Sherlock Holmes and worked in radio's The Saint, he said. His movies include One Touch of Venus, The Seventh Victim and Painting the Clouds with Sunshine.

Six New Books

Bogie Cult Catches On

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Following the flood of Kennedy memoirs comes an onrush of books about the late Humphrey Bogart.

At least six books about Bogart are in the publishing process. The question is: Why all this literature about an actor who has been dead eight years?

The answer is that Bogart has been seized as cult, first by colleagues of the Ivy League, then by the avant garde camp followers of the eastern seaboard. These presumably are book buyers, and publishers are quick to follow a trend.

FIRST BOOK

The first book to hit the market is Humphrey Bogart: The Man and His Films (Bobbs-Merrill) by Paul Michael. It is a handsome volume containing photos, casts and plots of all the Bogart films from A Devil With Women (1930) to The Harder They Fall (1956). Also included is a brief biography, obviously from previously printed sources.

Next comes Gehman's Bogart: The Scattered recollections of A Friend (Gold Medal Books), which is appearing this month in True magazine. It is a breezy, affectionate review of the Bogart saga, with good accounts of his early and late years.

OFFICIAL BIOGRAPHY

Reporter Joe Hyams is producing for Prentice-Hall what may be called the official biography, since it had the co-operation of the widow Bogart, Lauren Bacall. Another Hollywood journalist, Ezra Goodman, has penned for Lyle Stuart what may be the unofficial biography: It is reportedly iconoclastic in tone.

Citadel is bringing out The Movies of Humphrey Bogart, and Price Stern-Sloane has Bogie in the works.

Said a salesman at the Pickwick bookstore on Hollywood Boulevard: "It doesn't make sense; they're flooding the market."

"HE'D BE APPALLED"

Miss Bacall, who is an observer but not a participant in the Bogart cult, is more pointed about some of the forthcoming books. With Bacallian irony, she remarked: "Bogie would be appalled. You know how he loved to be used."

It's possible that all the books will find a ready market with the cool cats who crowd the Bogart festivals and imitate the Bogart lisp: "Play it again, Th-a-m." (Casablanca, 1943).

Harlow proved that there is a lively interest on the part of book buyers in Hollywood lore, provided it can be spiced up enough.

Trouble is, Bogart's life was not all that spicy.

Crown Finally Quits Shumiatcher Case

REGINA—The Saskatchewan Attorney-General D. V. Heald said he has decided not to carry his case against Regina lawyer M. C. Shumiatcher further, putting a virtual end to one of the longest legal actions in the province's history.

Now 47, Dr. Shumiatcher was convicted last November of conspiracy to defraud the public in a series of stock transactions. It was the last in a series of legal actions that began in 1960. He was sentenced to three years, but later granted bail. The case has cost Saskatchewan $226,000.

PARIS — French songstress Juliette Greco, 38, is in a Paris clinic recovering from an overdose of sleeping pills. Police sources said the sultry-voiced singer was found in her apartment by friends at Rue Verneuil.

LONDON — Beatles drummer Ringo Starr said he intends to call his son Zak. Starr, told reporters: "We had a look down a long list and decided on this one—not because it's a bit biblical, but it's a bit Western."

VANCOUVER — Two men charged in connection with the $1,200,000 mutilated money hold-up here last February will be tried first in Edmonton on counts of possessing stolen money. The British Columbia Supreme Court has denied a habeas corpus motion seeking to hold James McDougall, 31, and Joseph Percival, 37, a former Vancouver policeman.

PARIS—French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville will personally head the French delegation to the UN

Greco

General Assembly this month for the first time in three years.

ROCHESTER, Minn. — Evangelist Billy Graham was reported in "good condition" after cauterization to stop bleeding that followed a prostate operation. Mayo Clinic surgeons said Dr. Graham probably will be able to leave hospital "within two or three days." The Minneapolis Tribune quoted a Mayo surgeon as saying that an associate of Graham was "seeking publicity" when he expressed "deep concern" over the evangelist's condition yesterday.

ROME — U.S. Bishop Fred Pierce, general head of the Methodist World Council, has proposed a summit meeting of U.S. religious leaders to meet with Pope Paul VI in New York in "a gesture of unity of the church for peace."

OTTAWA — Air Commodore Charles G. Rutlan, 49, of St. Boniface, Man., will assume command of the Ottawa sector of North American Air Defence at North Bay. He replaces Air Commodore Michael E. Pollard, 45, of Montreal.

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has presented astronaut Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad with exceptional service medals of the U.S. National Aeronautic and Space Administration.

OTTAWA — Col John L. Drewry, 46, of Ottawa and Cobourg, Ont., succeeds Col. H. Teller, 47, of Montreal as commander of the Canadian contingent in Cyprus late this month.

ATHENS—Werner von Braun told an international space congress the United States should achieve its goal of landing a man on the moon before 1970. Delegates include Soviet cosmonauts Alexei Leonov and Pavel Beliaev.

OTTAWA — Mrs. Lester B. Pearson is up and around after being taken ill in Toronto.

TORONTO — Television actor Lorne Greene said the CBC should concentrate on developing programs and new talent rather than spending "millions of dollars on studios."

WROXHAM, England—Grace, Gladys and Gillian Critoph, 20-year old triplets will marry on the same day, in the same ceremony. However, the three couples will honeymoon separately.

VANCOUVER — A team of German mountain climbers have conquered the highest peak in British Columbia, Mount Waddington.

The men were: Alois Deiss, 34, supreme inspector of the Bavarian government's department of education and culture; guide Anderl Heckmeier, 50, one of Germany's foremost climbers; medical doctor Joachim Singer, 49; and law student Friedrich Flick, 20.

LONDON — Premier Ross Thatcher of Saskatchewan says his government is ready to put up capital to help British industry establish in his province.

TORONTO—Dr. Luis Pauling, winner of the Nobel Prize for chemistry, says the United States prevented the South Vietnamese from choosing the government they wanted in 1954 and now was attacking a poverty-stricken people with the most modern weapons.

Hunters on small motorbikes who rode behind active logging area roadblocks at the weekend chalked up a black mark for recreationists.

When logging companies agreed to open their gates to general public access on weekends during the hunting season this year it was made very clear that hunters and other recreationists would be expected to respect hunter roadblocks to active logging areas.

It was agreed that in most cases there would be no gates closing off these areas. Rather, there would be just trestle blocks and recreationists would be on their honor not even to walk into those areas, which really form a rather small part of vast new hunting areas opened to the public.

The motorcyclists have violated that honor arrangement, and if they persist access could be curtailed.

Apart from that, logging companies are pleased with the general behavior of hunters in the parched woods last weekend.

Some areas were closed because of fire hazards. Others, like the Sooke area, were open, but closed at noon.

Rain which fell Monday and Tuesday means that all logging areas can be expected to be open for general public access this weekend, except the odd area where they may be slash burning.

That means Sooke and Cowichan gates will be open until 3 p.m. Leechtown gate all weekend; Crown Zellerbach's Nanaimo Lakes gate to 5 p.m.; and MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River gates all weekend.

In the Sooke area there was some trouble with hunters staying in overnight, when it was definitely clear the area was to be closed at noon and that no camping was to be allowed on any weekend.

"We have no reports of damage. We are generally pleased with the access arrangements, but some hunters are not recognizing the active area roadblocks," said Harry Hobson, general manager for Pacific Logging with operations in Sooke and Cowichan areas.

There have been complaints that mid-week hunters are entering active areas and shooting where loggers are actually working. There is no public access to the timberlands during operational hours.

Roy Sworder, logging manager for B.C. Forest Products, said there were "no apparent problems" with the access arrangements. "Most people were co-operative. From now on we will be fully open until 3 p.m."

Provincial game branch officials have secured their first prosecutions of hunters, one for carrying loaded firearms in a car, three for no hunting licences, and one loaded firearms charge pending.

Fined $50 or five days for carrying a loaded firearm in a car was John Chabaszewicz, 538 Rithet. Maximum penalty is $300 and suspension of hunting licence. Fined for hunting without a licence were Mike Darin, 721 Daisy, $25; Keith Darryl Chapman, 945 Esquimalt Road, $15; Victor Norman Normandieu, 3028 Millgrove, $15.

"We are really going to crack down on loaded firearms. That is how people get killed," Game Inspector Robert Sinclair warned Tuesday.

In spite of the partial closing of logging areas because of a fire hazard, deer hunters turned out in full force for the first two days of the season last weekend.

There was some confusion, but in general hunters sought out areas they knew outside of logging company areas and others left their cars outside the gates and walked into the hunting spots. At Sooke some hunters failed to get out by the noon closing, creating a little trouble.

Success was not good because of the dry forestland cover which made it difficult to get near a deer, although hunters reported a good number of sightings. There were reports of the few careless hunters who didn't look carefully enough and shot does and fawns and left them in the woods. These are the same hunters that might shoot a human who moves in the woods.

On opening day, hunters were checked at a Goldstream roadblock and 388 hunters reported 20 deer for 6 per cent success. They reported they hunted areas including Wolfe Lake, Sooke River, Chemainus, Kapoor, Leechtown, Nitinat, Weekes Lake, East Sooke, Renfrew Road, Gordon River, 19 Creek, Jordan River, Humpback Road, Highlands, Malahat, Lake Cowichan, Yobou, Eagle Heights and Nanaimo Lakes.

At Colwood on Sunday, 271 hunters reported 12 deer, 5 per cent.

At Muir Creek Saturday 50 hunters bagged 12 deer and Sunday 21 hunters bagged six deer.

In general success figures were down 2 or 3 per cent from opening weekend last year.

At Ash River 317 hunters bagged 16 deer, 108 grouse, 5.5 per cent deer success; at Campbell River 396 hunters bagged 49 deer for 12.3 per cent success, best on the island; at Wolfe Lake (Courtenay) 255 hunters bagged 16 deer, 90 grouse for 6.2 success on deer; at Northwest Bay 533 hunters bagged 29 deer, 62 grouse, for 5.4 deer success.

Oliva Was For Real

Chance for Another

Tony Oliva, who last season became the first rookie to win the American League batting championship, still has a good chance to become the first rookie to repeat.

The fleet Minnesota outfielder is only five points behind Boston's Carl Yastrzemski and has been slowly gaining ground. His .318 is only five points behind the .323 which won the championship for him last season, and he leads his league in hits with 176 and in runs scored with 104.

No one else is close with Baltimore's Brooks Robinson, at .306, the only other American League hitter above .300.

CHAMP AHEAD

It's also a two-player race in the National League, where defending-champion Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh Pirates is trying to hold off Milwaukee's Hank Aaron.

Clemente at .336 is only three points below his winning average last year. Aaron is seven points in arrears but 12 ahead of Willie Mays, who has sort of been concentrating on distance for the last six weeks.

Final Rites Today

For City Sportsman

Funeral services will be held today at 3:30 at McCall Bros. chapel for Ian Young McKeachie, 49, well-known city sports figure who died Sunday in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mr. McKeachie, a native Victorian, was a member of Port Bay Gremlins and Victoria Dominions when they won national basketball championships. In recent years his sports interests centred around Little League baseball and bowling.

He attended Sir James Douglas elementary, Victoria High School and Victoria College, and joined the Air Force during the Second World War.

Mr. McKeachie was employed with the sales division of Standard Oil and lived at 3134 Glasgow.

He is survived by his widow, Peggy; two sons, John, 21, and Rob, 17; three daughters, Jane, 18, Anne, 15 and Cathie, 9. His mother, Mrs. A. McKeachie, also lives in Victoria.

Services today will be followed by cremation.

Canucks May Find

Olmstead Different

VANCOUVER—Retirements, a new coach and a new attitude on the part of the parent New York Rangers add up to a changed Vancouver Canucks entry in the Western Hockey League this season.

The new coach is Bert Olmstead, the man Ranger general manager Emile Francis considers the trouble-shooter of his organization. Francis figures he has some young players who haven't lived up to their promise as juniors, and he plans to ship them to Olmstead to find out why.

One of these is centre Bryan Hextall, who played the last three years with Baltimore in the American League. He'll be at the Canucks camp when it opens here Sept. 25. So will left winger Ray Brunel and defenceman Wayne Muir.

Also on hand will be six amateurs—defenceman Al Hamilton of Edmonton Oil Kings; right winger Joe Morneau and left winger Brian Cruikshank, both of Spokane, and goalies Jim Letcher of Nelson, Dave Cox of Spokane and Barry Brown, last year's reserve netminder.

IT FIGURES

In past seasons there have been complaints in some quarters that the Rangers haven't exactly been a generous parent club. But with Francis determined to develop young players, and Olmstead his choice to do much of the developing, Canucks could have many new faces by the time the Rangers close their own camp.

And they'll need a few. Utility man Bev Bell, who played defence and every forward position last year, has retired. So has basher Bill Burega, the defenceman with the league's biggest fan club, Ron Matthews, who will be 39 in January, is another defenceman who is undecided.

THEY'RE DIFFERENT

Olmstead is coaching in place of Max McNab, who will concentrate on his duties as general manager, and this could mean a rough camp for Canucks. McNab, lovingly known as Mannerly Maxwell, has the reputation of being a nice guy.

Victoria Gets Canadian Hoop Final

Chinooks Sure of Chance to Defend

Victoria Chinooks will defend their Canadian junior men's basketball championship on their home floor, the only club certain until provincial playdowns are completed that it will be taking part in what already shapes up as the biggest junior tournament yet.

Announcement that Victoria had been awarded the junior tournament was made yesterday at a luncheon. It will be staged at Central Junior High School, Feb. 28—March 5, and it may include as many as 11 teams.

Chinook manager Harold Turner made the announcement. He said that the Victoria bid to host the junior tournament as a feature of this city's centennial celebrations in 1966 had been accepted by the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association in preference to a strong bid from Newfoundland.

THEY'RE IN

And, practically assuring the success of the tournament, he said that the Chinooks as defending champions and host club will automatically be one of the clubs in the finals.

Just how many clubs will take part won't be known for some time but it is considered certain that there will be more than the five provincial champions which competed in the 1965 tournament. There is still a chance that all 10 provinces will be represented.

TWO FOR B.C.

British Columbia will be represented by two clubs, making it possible for 11 clubs to take part in the double-loss elimination playoff.

Although Chinooks are in they will still take part in the Inter-City league playdowns if they finish in the top four. If they win the Inter-City playdowns, the runner-up club will carry on to meet whatever other opposition is entered in the provincial playdowns and the winner will join Chinooks in the Canadian playdowns.

TO COST $33,000

Staging of the Canadian championships is a huge undertaking, the total cost of which will be approximately $33,000.

"This," said Turner, "is a scary total but I'm certain we will put it over."

He explained that almost half the cost of transporting, feeding and housing the provincial champions is expected to be borne by the Canada Fitness Council, which contributed almost $16,000 for the 1965 tournament. Help is also expected from the B.C. Centennial Committee and, Turner feels certain, Victorians will make their contribution by turning out for the games.

First evidence of that expected support has already been forthcoming.

"We have had wonderful co-operation from the school board as regards Central Junior High School," Turner said, "and we feel that we will have more than adequate playing facilities."

Central Junior was selected as the playing site after a survey of other facilities. Good seats will be available for about 2,000 fans, just about right for the tournament Turner said.

"We have, first of all, undertaken to stage this tournament because we feel it will stimulate interest at the local level and we have two main objectives," Turner told his audience.

"One objective is to retain the championship and the other is to stage the best tournament that has ever been held."

More than pride is the reason for the latter objective. The CABA is pondering the idea of selecting one Western and one Eastern city to stage the tournament on alternate years and the Chinook club hopes to convince CABA officials that Victoria would be an ideal choice.

QUEBEC (CP)—Two young women from Toronto were arrested Monday night at the foot of Montcalm's statue on the Plains of Abraham.

Police said the two women, aged 24 and 22, whose identities have been withheld pending charges, had first gone to Wolfe's statue nearby and placed a note in a drinking glass at the foot of the monument.

The note read: "I surrender." It was signed: "J. Wolfe."

At the Montcalm monument, there was a note which read: "Me too," signed "Montcalm."

The women told police they were the only members of the Keep Canada Together Club.

The incident took place exactly 206 years after the battle of the Plains of Abraham, Sept. 13, 1759.

To Promote Good Food, Wine

Gourmet Club Formed Here

Victoria devotees of good food and good wine have banded together and formed a gourmet club, Les Amities Gastronomiques Internationales.

It plans to hold its first gastronomic soiree Oct. 16 in the Empress Hotel.

Founded by guest house operator Paul Lamy of 777 Blanshard,

Dr. Gerald Wallace of 1520 Fairfield and Dr. Henry Lewis of 645 Fort, the club is limited to 20 members, all male.

It is the second Canadian branch of the international club founded in 1947 by Curmoski in Paris, where the "club chef" is located. First Canadian branch was in Montreal.

"I have always been interested in good cuisine," said Mr. Lamy, "and we hope, by emulation, to raise the standard of cuisine in Victoria."

Membership fee to the club is $110 a year, which includes four multi-course feasts with the appropriate wines.

Membership was limited to 20 males. "To facilitate service," said Mr. Lamy.

The club also hopes to teach its members to appreciate the finer wines and foods, he added.

Guest of honor for the inaugural feast will be a member of the French consulate, which has given its blessing to the new club.

All members will receive the club's official publication, Cuisine et Vins de France.

Students
Signing Up

The first wave of an expected 2,000 students submerged the Gordon Head gymnasium at the University of Victoria Tuesday, registering for the winter season.

The regular five-hour ordeal seemed to have been halved, though many students stood in line for several hours waiting their turn.

Registration continues until Friday. Late registration can cost up to $50 extra.

Letters patent creating a regional parks district in Esquimalt, Victoria and Oak Bay will be issued by the government in about 10 days, Recreation and Conservation Minister Kiernan said Tuesday.

A delegation from the three municipalities met Mr. Kiernan Monday and presented a petition seeking the parks district.

Formation of the new entity will enable member municipalities to acquire regional park land with a half-mill levy each will impose.

"I'm quite hopeful that other municipalities in the Victoria area will join in," said Mr. Kiernan.

BA Gas Pumps
'Won't Go Dry'

Not all of Victoria's BA and Royalite service stations will run dry, because "gas is gas" no matter where it comes from, according to one operator.

Members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union in British American Oil Company's B.C. marketing division went on strike Monday night after rejecting a company offer of a 35-cent-an-hour increase. (See Page 6.)

Victoria Harbor's 'Littlest Toot'

Teeny Tugboat
Packs Big Pull

By BOB PETHICK

Rescuing wayward adventurers stranded in Victoria's harbor, repairing and towing log booms, or picking up breakaway logs from beaches.

To the Marjane F. the Little Toot of the harbor, which sports busily back and forth anywhere from eight to 20 hours a day, it's all in a day's work.

ALL POWER

It may be only 24 feet long, the smallest tug in the harbor, but one third of the 24 feet is taken up by a 175-horsepower diesel engine which gives it a towing power that has to be seen to be believed.

Marching up the channel Tuesday with a four-section raft of logs hooked on behind, the tug moved the tow along at quarter throttle with complete ease.

"If I opened her up she'd tear the boom apart," said veteran skipper Fred Spedding, 3055 Millgrove, who has worked with logs since 1925.

PLANNED MOVES

Not a man to be rushed in conversation, Capt. Spedding speaks as slowly as his tug movements of the tug moves quickly. From the shore, movements of the tug might appear swift and sometimes jumpy, but inside the wheelhouse there is a minimum of motion, with every move carefully thought out through many years of experience.

Green Seas
Normal
On This Job

As with most troubleshooters, Fred finds his busiest time is when the weather is at its worst and everyone else is taking cover.

Outside the harbor, where logs are stored in West Bay, he can tell tales of green seas breaking over the wheelhouse.

At the rear of the tug, which he designed especially for the harbor chore, is a well deck containing metal dogs and chains to hook up to beached logs.

"If you had to lie out on the deck to hitch them up, you could easily be washed overboard," said Fred.

Tanned to the color of leather, with a neat mustache and a shock of grey hair, Fred sports a ready smile and wrinkles beside his eyes from squinting at the sun.

He has rescued so many children who have been stranded on islands in the harbor when an adventure went sour that he can't put any number on it.

But he does recall vividly one New Year's Day when he was inspecting close to 300 log booms after a big blow and came upon a small yacht, apparently stranded in a kelp bed off Harrison Island.

"It was still blowing pretty good, so I figured I'd better go alongside and see if everything was all right."

"After a while a man stuck his head out of the cabin, but no one would come out on deck," said Fred.

TOW LINE

He finally got a line on the yacht and towed it to the Causeway.

There he discovered there were three men and three women aboard the yacht. They had been at one New Year's Eve party and decided to go to another one — by boat.

The engine conked out and the yacht bobbed around in rough weather for better than six hours.

Enumerators
Start Monday

Victoria elections office had listed enough enumerators by Tuesday night to meet the need, and also had the required number of substitutes, according to returning officer Ray Bryant.

During the last federal election there were 53,000 voters on the Victoria list and 43,000 in the Esquimalt-Saanich electoral district.

IN PAIRS

Enumerators begin work Monday on a door-to-door survey of residents in both constituencies, and the lists must be completed by the following Saturday.

The 863 enumerators will work in pairs, except in rural areas where one is enough.

In Esquimalt-Saanich there are 128 urban and 49 rural polling divisions. In the Victoria riding there are 281 polling divisions for the enumerators to cover.

Eligible residents who miss getting enumerated next week can register at a three-day court of revision in both ridings, Oct. 21, 22, 23.

ELECTION OFFICES

The Victoria elections office is located in the Mullins Marine salesroom at 845 Yates, with telephone number EV 6-2251.

For the Esquimalt-Saanich constituency, the elections office, under John Davies, is in St. George's Church Hall on Maynard Street at Cadboro Bay, its telephone number, GR 7-1891.

Alaska-Bound Freight

Boom Possible
On Route North

By JIM BRAHAN

Victoria and the village of Sidney could become major handling points for Alaskan freight when B.C. ferries open their northern run next spring.

By using the B.C. ferry from Kelsey Bay to Prince Rupert, trucking companies could cut operating expense by using a Vancouver Island route.

QUICK TRIP

Trailers could be hauled to Port Angeles or Anacortes, cross the strait to either Victoria or Sidney, be picked up by tractor and hauled to Kelsey Bay, ferried to Prince Rupert and then be transferred to an Alaskan ferry.

A tractor could leave southern Vancouver Island with a trailer, deposit it at Kelsey Bay and return next day with a freight load from Alaska destined for the United States.

AMERICAN SNAG

There is a hitch to the proposed freight route. A piece of American legislation—the Jones Act—restricts carrying of goods by foreign vessels from an American port to an American port.

B.C. Ferry manager Monty Aldous said the legislation was strictly an American problem, and had nothing to do with the province's ferries.

CUTS COST

"We are travelling within B.C. waters and can carry anything," he said.

He agreed, if the freight route was opened, that costs of shipping to and from Alaska would be cut considerably, although he declined to estimate by how much.

Meanwhile, according to a Washington State Ferries spokesman, tenders will be let to American shipyards on Oct. 5 for four new vessels to be built for its system. Each will be capable of carrying 165 automobiles.

FEDERAL LAW

He said the new ships are not intended at present for use on Sidney-Anacortes run, but if traffic warranted, the company has other large ferries it could use between Sidney and the mainland.

He indicated there was a movement to have the restrictions imposed by the Jones Act investigated, and if possible to have them lifted, but he pointed out it is a federal law.

Melody from the past

Old-Timer Reflects

Key to Age:
'Be Useful'

By AL ARNASON

Long life comes easily to a man who feels needed, says Harry Hollins of 936 St. Patrick Street.

Harry ought to know. Tuesday he celebrated his 55th birthday in the Oak Bay home he and his family have lived in for nearly four decades.

"I think the secret is to feel needed. If you are no more use—you'll just fade away. I always leave something undone for tomorrow. Then I can say to myself when I wake up, 'I must get at that.'"

"You've got to justify your existence."

His ruddy features reflected the hours he spends in his garden and his quick mind guided his speech, unhesitatingly, to the point he wanted to make.

"Of course, I sometimes don't sleep so well, but I don't mind," he said with a sidelong glance. It became a mischievous smile as he added, "At my age you can make a lot of it up in the daytime."

But he isn't the sort to be caught napping.

Hobby Economics

His main interest for most of his life, outside of the letter service and mimeographing business he ran for nearly 20 years, has been economics. He still keeps up with the latest trends and has some strong ideas.

A follower of the theories of economist Henry George, who advocated a form of land reform and other basic changes in world economy, the elderly student thinks modern man doesn't get close enough to fundamentals.

"Look at all these people who follow Social Credit. Why, there aren't many left who even know the meaning of those words," he says.

But there is no criticism in his statement. He has kept his sense of humor and his tolerance bright by buffing them with new ideas.

With his wife, Tirzah, a native of Brooklyn, New York, he raised a son and daughter, both of whom are now married and live on the mainland.

Church Organist

He is one of the few people still alive who can remember the days of 1910 in the Port Alberni district, where he then taught music for a year before coming to Victoria to settle.

"I wasn't really a music teacher, but there was nobody else. Things were really primitive then. The children couldn't even sing the scale. They'd never heard it done."

After moving to Victoria he played the organ at Metropolitan United Church when it was still Methodist. Later he was organist at Oak Bay United Church from 1926 to 1937.

He has strong religious convictions.

"I believe in God and the Imminence of His creative and healing power and that it is still available to men in a degree proportionate to their faith."

"I'm lucky to have kept the use of my hands, and I have a good memory," he explained reflectively. He had just proved this by playing a melody from the distant past on a piano that filled a large part of his living room.

Then he brightened and said, "The last time your photographer came to take my picture was five years ago. I was 90 then. Perhaps, if I walk circum-spectly before the Lord, you will be able to send him here again to take my picture when I am 100."

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 15-year-old girl who is writing not only for myself, but for everyone who is a nail-biter.

First, is it true that a person who bites his nails is nervous? I have been biting mine way down ever since I remember. I don't consider myself nervous, although I did stop biting my nails once for two weeks and then I couldn't stand it anymore so I bit them off again. It seemed like something I had to do.

I go with a bunch of nice girls and they all have pretty hands and nails. When I am with them I hide my hands in my lap or put them in my pocket.

I keep worrying about the day I get an engagement ring. I'll want to show it around the way other girls do. But how can I if my nails are ugly? Please help me—FRANTIC.

Dear Fran: Nail-biting is a sign of nervousness. You'll find that your nails take the worst beating when you are anxious, frightened, frustrated or unhappy.

Some nail-biters have kicked the habit through gimmicky concoctions which are available in drugstores. Usually, however, gimmicks won't work. I suggest professional help. When you find out what is eating you, you'll stop eating your nails.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a firm believer in the Ann Landers M.Y.O.B. Philosophy (Mind Your Own Business) but a relative of mine reads your column religiously and perhaps if she sees this she'll recognize herself and get smart.

This relative has a little girl who is six years old. Susan is a delightful child—bright and lovable. When Susan does or says something that displeases her mother she gets a slap across the mouth in the presence of everyone. My mother used to slap me across the mouth in company and it didn't make me behave better. It only made me hate her. If I'm old-fashioned please say so. If this mother isn't doing right by her child I hope you'll set her straight. Thank you. —WANT TO BE FAIR.

Dear Want to Be Fair: Child-dren should be corrected the moment they do or say something that needs correcting—but the child should be taken out of the room first.

I am dead opposed to cracking a youngster across the mouth under any circumstances. The loss of dignity that results from a slap in the face is often devastating to a child and it doesn't do anything useful for an adult either.

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to comment on the letter from the teen-ager signed "Needing Wheels." As an employee of a credit bureau I see reports on thousands of kids just like that one. His file probably looks something like this:

Education: Applicant dropped out of high school.

Employment: Applicant has had six jobs since leaving school. No record of steady employment. His earning capacity is limited since he is unskilled. At present he is unemployed.

Personal: Applicant is liked by associates. Informants say, however, he is immature and has no long range plans for the future.

Assets: Nothing of value. "Needing Wheels" would surely be turned down for a car loan for the next two to six years.

This young man should go back to school and get some training. A car is the last thing he needs. —DECLINE ON NO WHEELS.

Dear Decline: Thanks for letting us know how it looks from the credit bureau. It looks the same from where I sit.

Celebrating their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday are Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hobbis, 934 Page Avenue, who were married Sept. 19, 1915, in Regina, Sask. They will be honored at an "open house" between 1 and 5 p.m., Saturday, at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hobbis, 2616 Sooke Road. The Hobbis family came to Victoria in 1911. Mr. Hobbis is a retired RCMP member. Mr. and Mrs. Hobbis have nine children, 30 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

University Women To Hear Students

University Women's Club of Victoria will begin its new season today, at 8 p.m., in the Faculty Lounge at Gordon Head Campus, University of Victoria.

Two University of Victoria students will speak on their experiences at the University of Chile, Santiago, Chile. Miss Wendy McFarland will give her impressions gained after a year's study as an independent student. Tony Keble, who has just recently returned from a five-week conference at the University of Chile, sponsored by the World University Service of Canada and the University of Victoria, will also speak on his impressions of the South American college student.

A reception for new members will follow the business meeting, and a cordial invitation is extended to those women interested in joining the club. Mrs. R. A. Fraser, president, and Mrs. J. W. McCammon, vice-president, will receive the members and guests.

IWA Expert Reports

Automation
Dual Threat

VANCOUVER (CP)—Automation is taking jobs away from workers, but so is lack of automation, says a report before the regional convention of the International Woodworkers of America (CLC).

The report says much worker displacement occurs "where management is slow to automate and, as a result, cannot continue to compete profitably."

CONTRACT TALKS

The automation study by Grant MacNeil, regional education director of IWA, is expected to form the basis of the union's position in contract negotiations with forest companies next year.

In an interview Mr. MacNeil said no accurate measurement has yet been taken of workers displaced in this way.

He said it applies to a number of small logging outfits, particularly in the British Columbia interior, which have gone out of business because they failed to install up-to-date equipment.

His report blames the labor movement as well as management and government for failing to meet the challenge of automation.

VAGUE THREAT

"Trade unions have not always been on the target in propaganda dealing with automation," the report says.

"A frank admission of misdirection is a useful starting point in our search for answers. Automation has been so carelessly defined that in the minds of many workers, it represents only some vague threat in the far-distant future. Unions for the most part have talked in vague generalities."

Union Blasts
Scab Hiring

VANCOUVER (CP)—The International Woodworkers of America (CLC) will request legislation to prohibit the hiring of "strike-breakers" during a legal strike.

T. W. Trineer, president of the New Westminster IWA local, told convention delegates employers have been known to encourage strike action so they could hire strike-breakers and avoid having to deal with a labor organization.

STRIKE RULES

The resolution proposed by the New Westminster local and passed by delegates said the right to strike is denied employees until they observe a number of legal requirements. The legislative committee of the convention this morning passed a number of resolutions. Among them were:

• To ask the provincial government to exempt old age pensioners and students from the five per cent sales tax;

• To protest the recent tuition fee increase for university students and to reiterate the IWA position for free education at all levels;

• To protest higher car insurance rates and to ask the government to sponsor an automobile insurance plan "satisfactory to the people of British Columbia."

CLC Aims Recruit
White-Collar Ranks

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Labor Congress next month will launch the second stage of a campaign to bring more of the country's white collar workers into organized labor.

A regional conference of unions interested in the white collar field has been called for Montreal Oct. 30-31. It will be the first in a series across the country.

ORGANIZATION

Others are set for Regina Nov. 27-28, Vancouver, Dec. 4-5, Toronto Jan. 16-17 and Halifax March 5-6.

Main purpose of the conference is to bring together rank-and-file delegates from local white collar unions for a discussion of organizing problems and the techniques of solving them.

In recent years CLC-affiliated unions have been making a slow but steady gain in the white collar field, organizing about 4,000 new members a year. But this has hardly kept pace with the growth in this section of the labor force.

Big retail firms, banks and insurance companies are the eventual targets of the new campaign.

STUDY MADE

About a year ago a small group of CLC officials made a special study of the white collar situation and decided the time was ripe for a well-planned assault in this field. They drafted a long-range plan to develop the groundwork for it.

The regional meetings were developed from a successful Toronto meeting. Next phase may be a national conference.

Organizing forces now are being strengthened in all of the unions involved in white collar fields. The old rush-in-and-sign-up attitude, which flopped so often in the past, has been discarded.

Victoria Entries
Tops in Show

Two Victoria entries won best in show and best Canadian-bred in show on the second day of the 40th annual all-breed championship dog shows in Esquimalt Arena.

The winning dogs were the German shepherd Champion Von Greg-Cyn's Commander, owned by G. and C. Iverson, and the Samoyed Champion Volnaika's Snokohala, owned by Mr. and Mrs. R. Heaps.

On the first day, the miniature poodle, Champion Allegiance of Clardar, owned by C. Nott of North Vancouver, was best in show and best Canadian-bred. Best Canadian-bred puppy was the beagle, Heilandor's Hi-Jacks, owned by Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Grant of Naramata.

Germany Backs Sterling

Did France Stab U.K.?

LONDON (Reuters)—The state-controlled Bank of England, armed with new support from the central banks of 10 countries including Canada, threw its weight into the foreign exchange market Tuesday to offset a new threat to the stability of the pound sterling.

The move came after the government announced Britain had another big overseas trade deficit last month.

Within minutes, a European holder of sterling—some market dealers hinted it was France—offered to sell the currency below the market rate.

The Bank of England was understood to have stepped in as a buyer and the price was quickly restored. West Germany also bought sterling.

It was to provide just such a shock absorber that the new international support for sterling announced last Friday was organized. The exact form of the foreign assistance has not been disclosed.

EDMONTON (CP)—Some Western grain farmers face disaster unless a quick change in weather allows harvesting of a record crop.

Statements of alarm came out of Alberta Tuesday as cold, wet weather with some snow settled over the province and edged into Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Temperatures in the 40s generally were 20 degrees below normal.

Harvesting has not been general since rainy weather settled over the Prairies Aug. 23.

R. E. English, statistician of the Alberta department of agriculture, said:

Gas Barge Elusive

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—The stubborn Mississippi River refused Tuesday to divulge the whereabouts of a missing chlorine barge despite an all-out search by the military.

At the same time, the flooding caused in hurricane-battered New Orleans.

The death toll from Hurricane Betsy climbed to 66 with addition of two victims in New Orleans. The city counted 44 known dead; 10 other hurricane deaths were reported elsewhere in Louisiana; Florida reported seven fatalities, Arkansas four and Mississippi one.

30 MISSING

In addition to the dead, Orleans Parish coroner Dr. Nicholas Chetta said between 50 and 60 names of missing persons have been registered at his office.

Army and navy divers plunged again into the Mississippi River around Baton Rouge, groping through the silt-laden water for a heavy steel barge carrying 600 tons of lethal chlorine gas in four huge tanks.

Russia Nearer Agreement On Nuclear Ban

GENEVA (Reuters)—United States disarmament negotiator William C. Foster said Tuesday Russia seems ready to accept most of the language of a U.S. draft treaty to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons.

Despite objections that the draft would allow West Germany access to nuclear weapons, it appears Moscow could accept most of the draft on the obligations of nuclear and non-nuclear states, Foster said.

This, he said, means "we have come a long way" toward concluding an agreement.

He told the 17-country disarmament conference it should be possible to proceed with the draft as a basis for negotiations when the conference resumes—probably next year—after adjourning Thursday.

The U.S. draft, worked out with the other three Western delegations to the conference, Canada, Britain and Italy, was presented here last month.

Foster demurred Russian delegate Semyon Tsarapkin's arguments that the U.S. proposals for a NATO nuclear force would give non-nuclear countries access to nuclear weapons.

Forces Sweep Jungles

SAIGON (Reuters)—Thousands of American and Australian troops swept into thick jungles north of Saigon early Tuesday on a massive search-and-destroy operation.

Paratroops of the 17th U.S. Airborne Brigade and infantrymen of the First Battalion of the Royal Australian Regiment were taking part in the sweep south of Ben Cat, some 20 miles north of the capital.

No contact with the guerrillas was reported.

Ceasefire? Ground Battles Slacken

NEW DELHI (AP)—Pakistani warplanes struck close to Calcutta Tuesday and Indian bombers hit two Pakistan towns while the tempo of the ground war slackened. Some hope for a ceasefire arose as UN Secretary-General U Thant delayed his departure from New Delhi.

Indian Prime Minister Shastri told political leaders India would work for an "honorable and just" halt in the war, informed sources reported.

Pakistani bombers and Sabre jet fighters twice struck at the huge Indian air base at Barru.

Weary Aquanauts Breathe, Smoke And Enjoy Life

LA JOLLA, Calif. (UPI)—Nine weary Aquanauts stepped from a decompression chamber Tuesday after more than two history-making weeks 205 feet underwater in Sealab 2, and exulted in their first breath of fresh air—plus a good smoke.

And for the first time since the Sealab 2 program began, the men themselves soft pedaled the glamor involved to stress the hard work and scientific tests. Scientists conceded they had reached the point of "reluctance" to re-enter the water.

All the more important in view of the first reactions of the men to their experiences will be the report of Astronaut Scott Carpenter when he emerges in another two weeks. Only Carpenter is staying down for 30 consecutive days, teaming now with nine other Aquanauts plus the dolphin, Tuffy, for other experiments.

ENJOY FRESH AIR

Navy Capt. George Bond summed up the reaction of the Aquanauts upon their departure from a decompression chamber in which they spent 15 days.

"The first thing they enjoyed was breathing the fresh air and the smokers wanted to smoke."

Bond said scientists hope the concept of saturation diving will be operational within five years for salvage and rescue operations as well as exploration of the continental shelf. He said the Sealab 2-type operation could make it possible to descend 800 feet.

SENSATIONS CONTRASTING

Earl A. Murray, a civilian Aquanaut from Del Mar, Calif., described the sharply contrasting sensations felt by the men on their first day in the 200-ton, 57-foot Sealab laboratory.

"The first day we laughed so hard we were sore," he said. "We laughed because of the novelty. I think the efficiency fell off after two weeks."

Bond envisioned laboratories extending 50 miles into the ocean as well as completely mobile laboratories made of modified nuclear submarines that could go anywhere on the continental shelf.

Planes Evacuate U.S. Citizens

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI)—Six U.S. Air Force C-130s took off from Mahabad airport here early today to evacuate about 600 American women and children from West Pakistan. They carried extra supplies of fuel for the trip via Afghanistan air corridors to Lahore, Pakistan.

Integrated Forces' Color Is Dark Green

OTTAWA (UPI)—So you think you had trouble picking the color scheme for the living room?

Try doing it for 10,000 vehicles—ranging from tractors and cars to tanks and fire engines.

National defence headquarters had this problem as part of the integration of the three armed forces.

The basic colors had to be picked for the new force's integrated fleet of cars, trucks, tanks, fire engines, ambulances, airport vehicles and everything else on wheels within the services.

Like painting a living room, there was a problem of personal taste. Esthetically and strategically a color had to be "picked" that wasn't too ugly on the street or too bright on a battlefield.

There was also the ticklish issue of interservice rivalry. Defence department paint experts and military brass finally decided on one basic color and, like a housewife dabbing a wall for a trial, they painted one truck dark green.

They agreed it looked fine so the color was finalized. The order has gone out that all trucks and buses of the integrated force will gradually be painted dark green—instead of the present pale blue for the force, brown for the army and dark blue for the navy.

But the experts didn't stop there. They decreed all automobiles in the service will be black. You will no longer be able to tell an admiral or a general by the color of his car.

Adding a brightening touch, they ordered all airport vehicles and engineering equipment, ranging from bulldozers and graders to dump trucks, will be yellow.

Ambulances will be white and, of course, fire reels will be red.

Combat vehicles, from ships to planes, will remain as they are now. Tanks or jeeps and other battle equipment will be painted according to the duty they are performing, from camouflage to United Nations colors.

Port Alberni

Recreation Projects Under Study

PORT ALBERNI—Ald. Garret Reynolds, reporting to council Monday for the Parks and Recreation Commission, said a number of projects are under study by the commission.

He also announced the starting dates of winter activities.

HOCKEY SEASON

The ice skating and hockey season begins Friday Sept. 24, and ice in the curling rink will be ready for use Friday, Oct. 1.

Among projects under discussion for inclusion in the Winter Works program, which is partly subsidized by the senior government, are new change-rooms and toilet facilities for Paper Mill Dam Park.

PICNIC SHELTER

A rustic picnic shelter is a project that users of Roger Creek Park will welcome.

The bath-house at the pool in Recreation Park is to be remodelled in accordance with new provincial health legislation and an outdoor lacrosse box for Recreation Park is planned.

Further beautification of the road at the entrance to Port Alberni, at the east end of Redford Street and the Nanaimo Highway is also under discussion by the group, and all these ideas will be ready for council consideration within the next three weeks.

YARD JOB

Now that Port Alberni's new public works yard is assured, the city plans to do the job right.

Both the public works yards in the Twin Cities have developed over the years without benefit of advance planning to any great extent. As the cities grew, so grew the works yards.

But the new yard which will serve both cities will be a model of efficiency and economy, city fathers hope.

One of the first acts of the city council Monday was to give the works superintendent leave of absence for two days with expenses, so he may visit various works yards in the Okanagan Valley and select some of the best ideas for adaptation to the new joint yard.

UNION BAY—The community club here is concerned about the damage done to sports fishing by pit-lamping.

The club met recently and discussed a report by secretary Ken Williams that fisheries officials have now decreased the number of salmon caught in seine nets with herring.

Apparently experiments have shown more salmon were attracted to the herring catch when lights were used by the fishermen.

LICENCE PROTESTED

A director's meeting of the community club discussed the matter last spring, when Lieut. Col. William Storm protested the proposed licensing of sports fishermen in pit-lamping areas.

Mr. Williams has contacted the federal and provincial governments, Island fish and game clubs, bringing their attention to the apparent harm caused to sports fishing in the Bayne Sound area.

PROGRAM PLANNED

The community club reviewed summer activities and laid plans for the fall and winter recreation program.

Harold Kennedy reported improvements made during the summer to Sandy Beach, the community swimming and picnic area.

The ground has been extended and cleared.

Material for two picnic tables with benches is on hand; these will be built during the winter and set in cement next spring on the picnic area.

NEW LIGHTING

Don Hastings was given authority to go ahead with the installation of floodlights on the Community Hall parking area.

Archery will be the newcomer on the club's recreation program this fall. Harold Kennedy and Ricky Richardson have attended classes in Courtenay, and will instruct classes in Union Bay. Mr. Kennedy reported material for making butts and targets is on hand.

As Doug Geidt, president, called for reports and suggestions, it was evident that a full program of recreation will be in full swing in the next few weeks, and will also include basketball, badminton, floor hockey, weekly film showings, teen-dances, adult dances, crafts and hobbies.

Story Hour at the library will begin its fourth year on Friday afternoon, Sept. 17, from 1 to 2 o'clock.

This means that every week at this time the little people of Union Bay from three to five years of age will proceed briskly to the local branch of the Vancouver Island Regional Library.

Here they meet and play with children of their own age; they have stories, puppet shows, songs, games, finger plays and cookies.

The value of a library Story Hour in a community has been demonstrated in the development of these children who have attended Story Hour for two or three of their pre-school years.

Through the regular habit of coming every week to the library they have learned the mechanics of library participation.

They know they must return books to the desk rather than to the shelves, and they know they must bring books to be charged out before taking them home.

UBC Dean Opens Forest Week —Duncan Speech

DUNCAN — Forest Products Week opened here with a warning that quality of wood products must be controlled carefully, to compete on the world market.

The warning came from University of British Columbia Dean of Forestry Dr. J. A. F. Gardner.

DUNCAN MAYOR

Dr. and Mrs. Garner were guests at a dinner sponsored by the Forest Products Week committee; other guests included Mayor Jack Dobson, Coun. George Whittaker, chamber of commerce president Dave Pollock.

"By 1970, Canada's pulp production will be double what it was in 1964," said Dr. Gardner.

QUALITY STRESSED

He stressed the importance of quality of wood products, not just appearance.

"Our country has not been doing enough long-range research to meet competition," said Dr. Gardner.

BAD MOLDS

One of the problems he suggested must be researched is that of molds which interfere with wood in shipment.

"Micro-organisms grow on wood," he said, "there is a lot to learn about this problem."

RESEARCH WORK

The dean said most of British Columbia's good and improved wood products of today are the

George Clutesi, Torch Of Fading Past

PORT ALBERNI—Every my father turned up a couple of arrowheads while digging the garden when I was a youngster I've had an abiding interest in the life and times of the original Canadians whose relics we unearth.

Seeing exhibits of his vivid paintings, and hearing of the fascination of his Indian legends and history, I have long wanted to meet George Clutesi.

What sort of a man is this, I asked myself, who without any great funds or backing from learned institutes, had taken on the task of retaining some of the priceless information about Coast Indians?

I found out at the Alberni Valley Historical Society's exhibit at the fall fair, last week.

Dramatic Exhibit

I finally found the nerve to walk up and introduce myself to a middle-aged man of average height, rather slight stature, whose face broke into a smile that came as close as possible to lighting up his opaque eyes.

The exhibit, dramatically arranged, included items generously loaned by local Indian families.

The ancient Mr. and Mrs. masks sat side by side with a modern counterpart carved by Melford Tait in 1964.

Antique tools for carving and for cutting grass to even lengths for the exquisite grass weaving were on display, together with a Marriage Doll, which was placed outside his beloved's house by the Indian boy. If the maiden took it in, his proposal was accepted.

A replica of the famous woven hat worn by the great chief Maquinna was made by Mrs. Lucy Bill, a local weaver known for her fine handicrafts.

'I am So Grateful'

But Mr. Clutesi had me stopped cold when I said how glad I was that someone was preserving and exhibiting these things before they pass away.

"Yes, I am so grateful," said George Clutesi in his gentle voice.

Mr. Clutesi is "grateful" that we manage to interest ourselves once a year in Indian history and skills.

The history is that of a people who could live on Vancouver Island happily and in comparative comfort living from the land and sea.

And Mr. Clutesi is "grateful" at the interest shown by a nation that freezes when the power is turned off.

In a land where the Canada Council gives grants to artists to go to Europe and return to create inexplicable dabs, George Clutesi... who carries with him the history of a race... works as a maintenance man at the Indian residential school for a living.

But George Clutesi is grateful.

Following the annual reports from committee chairmen, Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Thelma Deninger reported on the success of the two parents' kindergarten teas held last week at Stanley Gordon Elementary and Gladys Lomas Annex.

The PTA is conducting a library survey to improve libraries of the schools in the district.

NEW ARITHMETIC

Principal Len Plater told members "Parents will be given an opportunity to learn first hand about the new arithmetic, being offered in elementary grades."

A course will be offered if enough parents are interested.

BUSY STAFF

School principals Mrs. Yvonne Malcolm, Mr. Plater and Eric Lundberg introduced this year's teaching staff, which has been busy for the past two months taking summer sessions at universities across Canada and in the United States.

Treasurer Mrs. Mary Kral reported on the budget for the association, and the proposed budget of $400 was accepted by the membership.

Remembrance For Comrades

COBBLE HILL—The first fall meeting of the Royal Canadian Legion, Cobble Hill branch, was held recently, with a special remembrance for the passing of three legion comrades who died during the summer months, Basil Ruseley, N. W. Peglar and E. H. Perkins.

Mr. Perkins, a Boer War veteran, was a survivor of the last cavalry charge which was made at Modderfontein, South Africa.

Plans were made for the annual dinner and entertainment which will be held in October in honor of the ladies auxiliary.

Members learned Rev. P. G. Harris is planning to speak at schools in the district on the meaning of Armistice Day.

Fulford Women Give to Hall

By BEA HAMILTON

FULFORD—The first meeting of the season of the South Salt Spring Island Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. E. Anderson at Beaver Point recently.

A review of convener's reports and work was given, and a cheque for $70 was sent to the Fulford Hall Committee to go towards the building of the new entrance.

This sum was collected from a July Raspberry tea in aid of the Fulford Hall. A cheque for $10, is being donated towards the CNIB Tag Day on Oct. 9.

The members sent flowers to one of the old-time members, Mrs. H. Townsend, who was a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital for some weeks, also to her husband, H. Townsend, who is still a patient in the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

A card party is planned for Oct. 23, location will be stated later. A letter of thanks from the Salt Spring Lion's Club for a donation of $50, towards the Pioneer Village, was received.

The next W.I. meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. M. Gyles, on Oct. 14.

Centre Goes Up

DUNCAN—Construction has started on Duncan's newest shopping centre to cost in excess of $500,000 when completed.

The over-all complex to cover 50,000 square feet will include a large new Super-Valu store, retail merchants, financial institutions and government agencies one of which will be Duncan's new liquor store.

The new complex is located between the Trans-Canada Highway, Trunk Road, 66, Julian Street and Coronation Avenue.

A spokesman for K and R Enterprises Ltd., Robert Large said, the president of Super-Valu Stores initiated an aggressive expansion program.

Union Bay School

Reduction
In Staff
Protested

COURTENAY—Union Bay delegation came to Courtenay in battle formation Monday when it met with the school board to protest the decrease in staff at Union Bay's school.

One delegate said "what we are getting today is a bunch of buildings and no teachers, and our kids are being deprived of an education!"

'RATHER SHACK'

The delegation made reference to the 90-acre site recently purchased by the board and one member said he would rather see "a shack and a good teacher" than a million-dollar building and poor teachers or poor teaching conditions.

C. E. Ritchie, school superintendent, said he could appreciate the feelings of the parents. He explained teachers are hired on a ratio set down by the department of education.

NOT SERIOUS

With the present enrollment at Union Bay of 90 students, the school is only entitled to three teachers.

He also said he did not think the fact that one teacher was teaching three grades is as serious as the parents seem to think.

DOWNGRADING

Delegation spokesman Ken Peters told the board they objected to the removal of one teacher, leaving only three on the staff, with one teacher responsible for 3 grades.

The group said this move is downgrading the school, and is serious with the new courses now being introduced into the curriculum.

They claimed the situation has also thrown an increased strain on the remaining staff.

The group discussed several ways to improve the situation including moving of classes from Fanny Bay School, to give Union Bay School sufficient student enrollment for the extra teacher.

The group was told the same situation also exists in some other schools in the district.

MORE MONEY
Board chairman Brian Walker said "at the local level nothing can be done," but agreed some classes could be moved if there was sufficient room in other district schools.

He added, "the situation cannot be remedied at this time unless more money and more teachers are forthcoming."

Gaglardi Bets Fish
Ferry 'On Time'

CAMPBELL RIVER — Highway Minister P. A. Gaglardi opened the $50,000,000 best standard 50-mile highway between here and Sayward Tuesday.

During ceremonies Reeve Jack Lee of Campbell River bet the minister a local Tyee to a Kamloops trout that the ferry Queen of Prince Rupert will not sail on the scheduled date of May 20, 1966, from Kelsey Bay for Prince Rupert.

The minister accepted the wager, and commented:

"It will sail on that day if I have to get out there and tow the thing with an outboard!"

Who Will Police
Police Force?
Asks Port Man

PORT ALBERNI—"Who's going to police the police?"—That was the question raised before Port Alberni council by a citizen who made use of his right to air a grievance before the mayor and council.

Fred Fraser, 620 16th Avenue North, appeared bearing a traffic ticket issued for parking wrongly on the street before his home.

He did not dispute the fact he had been parked wrongly.

SINGLED OUT

But he felt he had been singled out for punishment because of a previous incident involving the dumping of scrap cuttings from cedar shakes which Mr. Fraser, a pensioner, cuts in his back yard.

Mr. Fraser said the ticket was issued at 3:15 a.m. and that he found it on his windshield the next morning.

"Of course, I have no way of knowing what other cars were parked there when the constable issued my ticket, but at 10 a.m. next morning, four cars were also parked wrongly in my block, and none of those was ticketed to my knowledge."

TOOK TOUR

To further back up his contention that this city ordinance was not being generally observed or enforced, he said he took a tour around Eighth and Ninth Avenues, Bruce, Fourth Avenue and Redford, and counted 18 vehicles, including two city owned ones, wrongly parked.

Deploing the demise of "the old-fashioned village constable," Mr. Fraser said he considered this type of traffic ticketing nit-picking.

A warning, he said, would be much more effective and earn more respect for the police force, than jumping on senior citizens with $5 fines, while other more serious traffic offences often go unpunished.

But Mayor Les Hammer cut him off sharply when Mr. Fraser brought up the matter of police fines as an addition to city budget.

"If you do seek revenue..." Mr. Fraser began.

The mayor interjected "We do not seek it that way. Unfortunately it comes through crime and misdemeanors. We would be happy if there were no revenue at all from wrong-doing."

FORMER MAGISTRATE

Mr. Fraser, who says he served on the council in Flin Flon, Manitoba as well as being one-time stipendiary magistrate at Fort Smith in the Northwest Territories, said citizens have to look to city council to police the police.

Mayor Hammer assured Mr. Fraser that citizens were welcome at any time to appear before council, and that his complaint would be looked into by the chairman of the public safety committee although the mayor said he could not agree with Mr. Fraser that there is any undercurrent of dissatisfaction with police enforcement in the Alberni Valley.

Chemainus Woman Hurt

CHEMAINUS — Mrs. Josephine Sylvia Morgan of Mt. Sicker Road is in good condition at Chemainus Hospital after she suffered shock when her car went out of control on slippery Trans-Canada Highway and rolled over, landing in a ditch near Chemainus, Tuesday night.

'Late Buses
Lose Money'

PORT ALBERNI — Decision of the Tyee Bus Company to ask the Public Utilities Commission for permission to reduce service in the Alberni Valley was not entered into lightly, spokesman for the company said Tuesday.

Evening runs would be eliminated after 7 p.m.

"We have taken passenger counts many times after 6 p.m.

and there just isn't enough patronage to warrant continuing it," said G. W. Morton, secretary-treasurer of the company.

WASN'T ENOUGH
"Even the recent fare increase wasn't enough," said Jim Bates, president of the firm. "It helped, but not enough to put the thing on a paying basis."

However he said if the voters show the "same apathy" toward the question of the bus franchise and subsidy that they showed in last Saturday's by-law vote, "it's possible the alley will end up with no bus service at all."

Mr. Bates pointed out that British Columbia is the only province that has not as yet had to provide subsidies for private companies.

Paul Van Deresch, 513 Warren Avenue, was a passenger in the car. He is reported in satisfactory condition.

Driver of the car, Alan D. Reimer, 1137 Lyall Street, Victoria, escaped injury, when his car went out of control on the rain-slick pavement and down an embankment.

The car was completely demolished.

Dr. Bonham
Leaving

PORT ALBERNI — Mayor Les Hammer expressed the regret of all citizens in the valley on learning that Dr. Gerald Bonham, Central Vancouver Island Health Unit director, will be leaving the position shortly to take a position in North Vancouver.

Ald. MacFie was authorized to attend a dinner to be given in honor of Dr. Bonham in Nanaimo, Thursday evening.

It was due to Dr. Bonham's efforts, the mayor said, that UBC research teams have undertaken a survey of air pollution problems in the valley.

The study in connection with respiratory diseases in the area "was Dr. Bonham's baby," the mayor said, "and for that alone citizens of this district should be very grateful."

Duncan Ready
To Co-operate

DUNCAN — Mayor Jack Dobson Monday said his council is not using delaying tactics but is willing to work together with North Cowichan municipality toward joint action in services.

He said "I have mentioned many times during my term of office, it is impossible for the city of Duncan to confine its planning and thinking to the area within its immediate boundaries."

"We are part of a larger community, and as a part we must work for the benefit of the whole area."

CITY'S INTENTION
The mayor quoted seven examples that proved the city's intention to work for the Cowichan valley as a whole.

He reminded North Cowichan municipality:

● The city at one time had the only fire department in the area and helped to establish other departments;

● The city took over Pioneer Park and maintained it without assistance for several years;

● The city never turned down a request for water or set its boundaries, mainly in North Cowichan;

● The city at one time provided the only garbage disposal grounds in the area for the use of all;

● The city, five years ago without ever getting a reply, offered to process the sewage from an area in North Cowichan.

SHOULD GIVE NOTICE
Mayor Dobson said "it would be appreciated if the reeve (Donald Morton) would give notice of his impromptu recommendations."

"For instance, the regional area suggestion was brought forward at a joint meeting to discuss the Rotary Swimming Pool."

He blames the crash for eye and other injuries.

By KLAUS MUENTER

DUNCAN — Chief Mike Underwood says "it seems the city of Duncan can do nothing without bothering the Indians!"

He made the comment Tuesday, after Duncan council Monday blasted the Indian band for refusing to sell parcels of land for Underwood Road extension and for parking area near the new courthouse.

"We have very little land left," said Chief Underwood, "and the city is trying to take it away from us."

The land the city wants to buy is about .8 acres for parking and about 1.5 acres for Underwood Road extension.

The Indians have offered to lease the land, and say they will definitely not sell the parking land, but may consider sale of the Underwood extension parcel.

"It seems to me as if the city officials feel they cannot exist without buying our land," said Chief Underwood.

He said the Indians know it is to their benefit to lease land, rather than to sell it.

An angered city council Monday blasted the Indian band, and said no more land should be leased from the Indians.

The city now leases parking land at $4,000 a year, and a sewage lagoon at more than $3,000.

But Chief Underwood came back with a strong stand Tuesday.

"They can take it or leave it (the lease), whatever they like!"

A city council spokesman said "that is too bad, that attitude will probably set things back."

The chief said "the city gets big benefits from our leased land. They charge taxes, and we do not get one penny. Our land is supposed to be tax-free."

He said "the city should be glad and thankful they get the parking lot (the existing civic parking area near the armories) but apparently the more they get, the more they want."

Chief Underwood told the Colonist "I am on the warpath! I shall fight to get some of that tax money one way or another."

If Bylaw Passes

NANAIMO—Ratepayers here have the opportunity of having their cake and eating it too if the $1,250,000 capital improvements bylaw is passed Oct. 7.

City hall staff have carried out some calculations and found that money set aside in every budget for reserve and sinking funds, could be used to pay off the annual charges on the one bylaw.

ITEMS ELIMINATED

Finance chairman Ald. Jack Parker explained it this way. He said, "The annual charges for a 20-year loan of $1,250,000 at 5½ per cent are $104,599."

"A careful study of the 1965 budget shows that this cost can be met out of revenue without an increase in taxation. This will be possible by the elimination from the budget of items which will be taken care of in the bylaw."

"It should be emphasized that this assurance would not apply as far as the school costs are concerned, nor would it apply if, for example, the water and sewer board or the hospital board became involved in a major capital program."

The alderman said passage of the bylaw would not effect the annual budget appropriation for streets. This work would be carried on in addition to the work under the bylaw.

NO DETAILS

No details on what streets will be improved will be released until after a traffic survey is made this winter.

Ald. Parker added "Plans are being considered for a suggested Centennial project which includes public rest rooms. If this project is not selected, application will be made to transfer funds within the bylaw to provide this facility in the downtown area."

Courtenay District

New Association
Slams 'Monster'

COURTENAY — Harsh words were spoken about the new regional district formed here, as 125 persons met to form the Non-Partisan Electors' Association.

One-time Courtenay alderman Fred Smith told the meeting, referring to the regional district, "I feel a monster has been created with this board, and until we have a meeting with a responsible minister, and I say responsible, we will never know the answer."

CLOSED MEETINGS

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell was invited, but did not attend the meeting.

Mr. Smith said the regional board seems to favor going business in closed meetings.

The meeting chairman, lumber supply dealer Robert McPhee, blasted Dan Campbell for statements made in a telegram to the meeting.

IN PUBLIC

"He has said he is willing to talk at any time about regional districts," said Mr. McPhee, "this telegram says he will discuss the matter with the executive of this group, if one is elected."

"I say that is not good enough, it should be discussed in public."

COMMITTEE

A steering committee was set up to draft bylaws of the association.

On the committee, beside the chairman, are motel owner Pat Fox, teacher Doug Hibberd, Crown Zellerbach employee Gordon Moore, lawyer Terry Ryan, realtor Barry Anderson, and insurance men Sid Donaldson and Robert Stark.

NANAIMO — Pacific Coastal Airlines will go before a Department of Transport hearing today, to argue for its application to start air service between Nanaimo and Vancouver.

The company will make its submission this morning at the Malaspina Hotel, before Air Transport Board legal counsel John Grevy.

The hearing, which is reviewing three competing applications for the service, opened Tuesday.

OTHER COMPANIES

Other companies making submissions are Airwest and Nanaimo Airlines.

Norman Gold on behalf of the Vancouver-based Airwest said his company would start with six flights daily, and some would be tailored to connect with major flights leaving Vancouver.

Nanaimo Airlines operator Don McGillivray said his company would start out in a small way with two flights daily, leaving 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Return flights from Vancouver would be made at 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

Second Accident Fatal

Defendant Dies Before Hearing

Robert Roy Humphries, 27, is being sued in Supreme Court at Victoria as the result of an accident on the Island Highway three miles north of Nanaimo on July 20, 1963.

But when the case began Tuesday, the court learned the Nanaimo resident is dead.

He died on the recent Labor Day weekend—in an accident on the Island Highway three miles north of Nanaimo.

The suit against Mr. Humphries was changed to a suit against his estate.

The suit for damages is being brought by Oliver Patrick Lafonde, Nanaimo, as a result of injuries suffered in the accident of 1963.

Mr. Lafonde, 23, was a passenger in a car which was in collision with Humphrey's car, and Mr. Lafonde was injured.

He blames the crash for eye and other injuries.

Humphreys had been traveling from Port Alberni on the way to attend a dance at Nanaimo when he braked and skidded in the face of on-coming traffic.

The driver of the other car, Ronald Philip Hooper, also sued as a result of the crash but agreement has been reached on the amount of damages in that case.

On Sept. 5 Mr. Humphreys again lost control of his car, this time a sports car, and smashed head on into a car driven by Barry Galinski.

This time Mr. Humphreys died instantly.

Mr. Humphrey's first accident took place between Departure Bay cutoff and Northfield Road, his final accident less than one mile north near the Venice Cafe.

He was a pulp mill worker at Harmac and at the time of his death was living at the Long Lake Motel.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Actor John Wayne became a grandfather for the 10th time Tuesday when a daughter-in-law gave birth to her fourth daughter, Gretchen, wed to the actor's son, Michael, in the mother of Josephine Nichols.

EDMONTON (CP)—Some Western grain farmers face disaster unless a quick change in weather allows harvesting of a record crop.

Statements of alarm came out of Alberta Tuesday as cold, wet weather with some snow settled over the province and edged into Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Temperatures in the 40s generally were 20 degrees below normal.

Harvesting has not been general since rainy weather settled over the Prairies Aug. 23.

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—The stubborn Mississippi River refused Tuesday to divulge the whereabouts of a missing chlorine barge despite an all-out search by the military.

At the same time, the flooding eased in hurricane-battered New Orleans.

The death toll from Hurricane Betsy climbed to 64 with addition of two victims in New Orleans. The city counted 44 known dead; 10 other hurricane deaths were reported elsewhere in Louisiana; Florida reported seven fatalities; Arkansas four and Mississippi one.

Forces Sweep Jungles

SAIGON (Reuters)—Thousands of American and Australian troops swept into thick jungles north of Saigon early Tuesday on a massive search-and-destroy operation.

Paratroops of the 173rd U.S. Airborne Brigade and infantrymen of the First Australian Regiment were taking part in the sweep south of Ben Cat, some 20 miles north of the capital.

No contact with the guerrillas was reported.

Russia Nearer Agreement On Nuclear Ban

GENEVA (Reuters)—United States disarmament negotiator William C. Foster said Tuesday Russia seems ready to accept most of the language of a U.S. draft treaty to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons.

Despite objections that the draft would allow West Germany access to nuclear weapons, it appears Moscow could accept most of the draft on the obligations of nuclear and non-nuclear states, Foster said.

This, he said, means "we have come a long way" toward concluding an agreement.

Diplomats Solve Culture Problem

LONDON (Reuters)—British diplomacy and decorum joined Tuesday to avert a bare-breasted dance by African maidens in the heart of London at noon Thursday.

The Sierra Leone dancers, here for the Commonwealth Arts Festival opening Thursday, had insisted on performing naked from the waist up in accord with their tribal traditions.

Fearing a near-not by lunchtime crowds, Britain's ministry of works demanded that the girls cover up. The manager of the 60-member troupe refused.

Tuesday's diplomatic settlement calls for the girls to perform traditional dances which do not require bare breasts. But they will be able to perform the undraped dances on television and in festival theatre presentations.

For 10,000 Vehicles

Integrated Forces' Color Is Dark Green

OTTAWA (UPI)—So you think you had trouble picking the color scheme for the living room?

Try doing it for 10,000 vehicles—ranging from tractors and cars to tanks and fire engines.

National defence headquarters had this problem as part of the integration of the three armed forces.

The basic colors had to be picked for the new force's integrated fleet of cars, trucks, tanks, fire engines, ambulances, airport vehicles and everything else on wheels within the services.

Like painting a living room, there was a problem of personal taste. Esthetically and strategically a color had to be picked that wasn't too ugly on the street or too bright on a battlefield.

There was also the ticklish issue of interservice rivalry. Defence department paint experts and military brass finally decided on one basic color and, like a housewife dabbling a wall for a trial, they painted one truck dark green.

They agreed it looked fine so the color was finalized. The order has gone out that all trucks and buses of the integrated force will gradually be painted dark green—instead of the present pale blue for the air force, brown for the army and dark blue for the navy.

But the experts didn't stop there. They decreed all automobiles in the service will be black. You will no longer be able to tell an admiral or a general by the color of his car.

Adding a brightening touch, they ordered all airport vehicles and engineering equipment, ranging from bulldozers and graders to dump trucks, will be yellow.

Ambulances will be white and, of course, fire reels will be red.

Combat vehicles, from ships to planes, will remain as they are now. Tanks or jeeps and other battle equipment will be painted according to the duty they are performing, from camouflage to United Nations colors.

BATTLE TEMPO LESSENS

NEW DELHI (AP)—Pakistani warplanes struck close to Calcutta Tuesday and Indian bombers hit two Pakistani towns while the tempo of the ground war slackened. Some hope for a ceasefire arose as UN Secretary-General U Thant delayed his departure from New Delhi.

Indian Prime Minister Shastri told political leaders India would work for an "honorable and just" halt in the war, informed sources reported.

Pakistani bombers and Sabre jet fighters twice struck at the huge Indian air base at Baroda.

Bennett In U.K.

LONDON (CP)—Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia arrived in London today with a small group of B.C. trade officials to start a visit to the United Kingdom and the Continent. He was met by Earle C. Westwood, B.C.'s agent-general in London.

Weary Aquanauts Breathe, Smoke And Enjoy Life

LA JOLLA, Calif. (UPI)—Nine weary Aquanauts stepped from a decompression chamber Tuesday after more than two history-making weeks 205 feet underwater in Sealab 2, and exulted in their first breath of fresh air—plus a good smoke.

And for the first time since the Sealab 2 program began, the men themselves soft pedaled the hard work and scientific tests. Scientists conceded they had reached the point of "reluctance" to re-enter the water.

All the more important in view of the first reactions of the men to their experiences will be the report of Astronaut Scott Carpenter when he emerges in another two weeks. Only Carpenter is staying down for 30 consecutive days, teaming now with nine other Aquanauts plus the dolphin, Tuffy, for other experiments.

ENJOY FRESH AIR
Navy Capt. George Bond summed up the reaction of the Aquanauts upon their departure from a decompression chamber in which they spent 15 days:

"The first thing they enjoyed was breathing the fresh air and the smokers wanted to smoke."

Bond said scientists hope the concept of saturation diving will be operational within five years for salvage and rescue operations as well as exploration of the continental shelf. He said the Sealab 2-type operation could make it possible to descend 800 feet.

SENSATIONS CONTRASTING
Earl A. Murray, a civilian Aquanaut from Del Mar, Calif., described the sharply contrasting sensations felt by the men on their first day in the 200-ton, 57-foot Sealab laboratory.

"The first day we laughed so hard we were sore," he said. "We laughed because of the novelty. I think the efficiency fell off after two weeks."

Bond envisioned laboratories extending 50 miles into the ocean as well as completely mobile laboratories made of modified nuclear submarines that could go anywhere on the continental shelf.

Prairie Gains 'Unlikely'

REGINA (CP)—Trade Minister Sharp says it would be a mistake for anyone to believe the Liberals will make massive gains on the Prairies in the Nov. 8 federal general election.

Speaking at a press conference, he said he would be happy to see "adequate" representation from the Prairies.

NO SEATS
The Liberals did not hold any seats in Saskatchewan, a Conservative stronghold in the last house.

Mr. Sharp said it was necessary to have a strong government in Ottawa with a clear mandate from the people to "be able to negotiate from clear strength."

PROBLEMS
"The people of the Prairies will be asked in the next few weeks to decide if they wish to participate actively with the rest of the country in governing Canada in making decisions which will affect the shape of Canada in many years to come," he said.

"The main problem is working out better relationships amongst provinces and between French and English-speaking societies."

Planes Evacuate U.S. Citizens

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI)—Six U.S. Air Force C-130s took off from Mehrabad airport here early today to evacuate about 600 American women and children from West Pakistan. They carried extra supplies of fuel for the trip via Afghanistan air corridors to Lahore, Pakistan.

Germany Backs Sterling

Did France Stab U.K.?

LONDON (Reuters)—The state-controlled Bank of England, armed with new support from the central banks of 10 countries including Canada, threw its weight into the foreign exchange market Tuesday to offset a new threat to the stability of the pound sterling.

The move came after the government announced Britain had another big overseas trade deficit last month.

IN MINUTES

Within minutes, a European holder of sterling—some market dealers hinted it was France—offered to sell the currency below the market rate. The Bank of England was understood to have stepped in as a buyer and the price was quickly restored. West Germany also bought sterling.

It was to provide just such a shock absorber that the new international support for sterling announced last Friday was organized. The exact form of the foreign assistance has not been disclosed.

Bayonets At Back Says Wessin

MIAMI (UPI)—Quoted Dominican Gen. Elias Wessin, breaching a four-day silence, Tuesday night rejected the post of consul in Miami and refused a blistering attack on the U.S.

In a letter to provisional president Hector Garcia (Indio), Wessin said he was "deported from my country with a bayonet at my back" by American forces.

"The American officials who ordered my expulsion in such a humiliating manner have given the coup d'etat the fight for democracy in the Americas."

Marcoux To Run Alone

QUEBEC (CP)—Dr. Guy Marcoux, Social Credit member for Quebec Montmorency in the last Parliament, will run as an independent in the Nov. 8 federal election.

Dr. Marcoux said Tuesday he decided to be independent because he does not wish to be tied to any party or to any campaign fund in the election.

He had announced last week he would not be seeking re-election as a Social Credit candidate.

SECOND INDEPENDENT
Another of the five Social Credit members in Quebec, Marcel Lessard (Lac St. Jean), also announced plans to run as an independent.

Mr. Lessard said none of the present parties has principles in line with his own.

Maurice Cote (Chicoutimi), who has said he too will choose a banner other than Social Credit this time, said Tuesday he has not yet decided what his new affiliation will be. It would be either independent or Liberal.
